Pattee Urges Stronger PUC

By FRED SORRI

California Public Utilities Commission's regulatory powers over private water companies will have to be strengthened by the State Legislature, Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee (R-Corral de Tierra) said this morning at a public hearing in Seaside.

Pattee, who is presiding at the Assembly subcommittee hearing, made his comment after hearing testimony about the past inadequacy of the service by East Monterey Water Service of Seaside.

A near capacity audience was in attendance in city hall at the hearing by the Subcommittee on Water Companies of the Assembly Interim Committee on Public Utilities and Corporations.

State Legislators

Six assemblymen and State Sen. Fred S. Farr (D-Carmel) were present at the hearing which was opened at 10 a.m. by Assemblyman Joseph M. Kennick of Long Beach, chairman of the subcommittee.

Kennick said that Pattee brought to the attention of the committee "certain facts which indicate that our citizens may not enjoy the assurances of proper and reasonable water service to which they are entitled."

"I might explain that we are meeting in Seaside not in order to single out the water company in this city, but because it was the City of Seaside which first sought the assistance of the committee and which has done considerable work in this field already."

New Laws

Kennick said it is the Public Utilities Commission's responsibility to bring about good and equitable service. "Cases do occur in which the commission finds itself legally unable to respond to the customers' appeals. At such times, the legislature is called upon to examine the situation and, if necessary, alter the commission's authority. We are here today to find out if a regulatory gap does, in fact, exist."

First to testify was Arthur R. Celeski of 2015 Mendocino St., Seaside. He said his water service had been inadequate because of the "indifference and incompetence" of the managers of East Monterey Water Service.

He told of the lack of water pressure and of the sand in the system, showing the subcommittee a jarful of sand that came out of water lines.

Celeski said it was a "poor and irresponsible" service that had improved of late, but which had been a hazard to the health of his family.

Senator Testifies

Farr testified that there had been a water problem in Seaside for many years and that it was a serious public health problem. He praised a suggestion by Seaside City Atty. Saul M. Weingarten that the state place trustees in charge of water companies that fail to perform their proper function.

"I think you make a lot of sense," Pattee told Farr.

Weingarten recounted the city's history of water problems. He told how the city had placed conditions on use permits for wells to get landscaping and fencing. He said these conditions had been ignored for many years.

Legal Action

He said that whenever the city threatened legal action, the owner of the company would say: "Go ahead. Take us to court. We'll just cut off the water for all the people in the area."

Weingarten said applications for new wells came at the height of water shortages so that the city could not turn them down because of failures to meet previous use permit conditions.

The city attorney said that PUC could not do much to help Seaside. He said PUC spokesmen told him it was a chronic, statewide problem.

Legislators Disagree On Preservation Stand

SALINAS — Monterey County's two state legislators disagreed Tuesday over prospects for state acquisition of land to preserve the stand of Monterey Pines along the Monterey skyline.

Assemblyman Alan Pattee (R-Corral de Tierra), in a letter to the County Planning Commission, expressed the belief that "for a long time this will not be taken into the park system, if ever."

Pattee said his information came from the State Division of Beaches and Parks.

Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel), on the other hand, told the commission "the area is under study for a park" by the division in accordance with a senate resolution.

Elaborates

In elaborating on his remarks today, Farr told The Herald that Senate Resolution 93 calling for the preservation of a forest of Monterey Pines "along the central coast" is now in the hands of Charles De Turk, director of the Department of Parks and Recreation.

Furthermore, Farr added, the study concerns specifically the stand of pines proposed for a park in the Peninsula Area Master Plan in the Jacks Peak region.

Pattee's letter stated that the local study was proposed in one of 70 resolutions introduced for study at the last session of the legislature but that there are now only 18 to be studied and reported back to next year's session.

Pattee stated flatly that the Monterey Pines park "is definitely not one of them."

No Money

"They also advise me there is no state money for this park now, and if the bond issue passes in November, the 18 mentioned above will have the priority for the bond money," Pattee continued.

"It appears, therefore, that for a long time this will not be taken into the park system, if ever," he concluded.

A local move to acquire the land by formation of a Peninsula park and recreation district has been delayed, according to Lou Haddad, co-chairman of the Citizens Committee for Conservation.

Haddad said the proposal has not yet been scheduled for hearing by the Local Agency Formation Commission and that there is now not sufficient time to arrange for an election in October as previously planned.

It is now anticipated that the election will be proposed for next February, he said.

Farr to Lead Demo Discussion On State Primary

State Sen. Fred S. Farr of Carmel will lead a discussion about the recent primary election at a meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Democratic Club to be held 8 p.m. Thursday at the Casa Munras in Monterey.

Allan Murphy, president of the club, today invited all Democrats to attend the meeting.

In addition to the primary, the upcoming general election also will be discussed, Murphy said.

McGrath Speaks to Carmel Democrats

Gerald E. McGrath, candidate for supervisor in the Fourth Supervisorial District spoke at a meeting of the Carmel Women's Democratic Club, held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Stanley Shloss, Carmel Valley. Other speakers were Senator Fred Farr and Robert Tuttle, chairman of the Democratic Central Committee.

Farr also mentioned the National Wilderness Bill which would set aside wilderness areas for future generations to enjoy.

He said areas of Monterey County which might be under consideration for park development under these bills would be Big Sur State Park expansion into adjoining Pfeiffer property, Garrapata Beach, a section of Jacks Peak on the Monterey Peninsula, and the Toro Flats land offered by the Marks family.

Farr was introduced to the club by the program chairman, Leonard Jones. Welcomed as a new member of the club was Gene Marrone.

He also described a bill before Congress, HR 3846, to establish a land and recreation users fund to purchase additional park land.

Pinnacles West Side Plan Seen

Farr recently wrote to James K. Carr, under secretary of the United States Department of the Interior, requesting a reconsideration of the department's construction for the Pinnacles.

Pinnacles—in San Benito county—is well developed, accessible by a good road and equipped with camping and picnicking facilities, the west side has remained relatively undeveloped. The Soledad Chamber of Commerce has been active in seeking development of the west side, which is considered by some to be even more spectacular than its better-known east side neighbor.

No date for the beginning of development of the west side was announced in Carr's letter to Farr.

road improvements to the site which is 13 miles east of Soledad.

Apparently already some fruit has been borne from the accelerated action as evidenced by a letter to Senator Fred Farr from James K. Carr, under secretary of the U. S. Department of Interior. The letter stated that the National Park Service had re-examined the Pinnacles National Monument and now is planning to construct camping and picnicking facilities on the west (Soledad) side.

of the Pinnacles are what park men call 80% "area" residents. It is felt by local chamber promoters, and agreed by park officials, that the west side would be chiefly travelers drawn off the 101 highway.

To substantiate public interest in the west side development, Dunlap and CoCo President Frank Terry expect to visit all civic organizations in the valley seeking endorsement of the desirability and need for west side development.

Dunlap spent two days recently talking to high-level national park officials. Since then he met with Pinnacles Supt. Delyle Stevens, Senator Fred Farr and Assemblyman Allan Pattee. And he is not through, yet, he told the chamber.

$5 billion to explore outer space, it is spending only $125 million for oceanography, Farr said. "Here is a terrible oversight. And yet, prospects for improvement do not seem bright," Farr wrote to Udall.

Farr pointed out that "there are only 1,500 trained marine scientists in our nation, and the projected increase in their number is anything but dramatic . . . The situation must be remedied, and it must be remedied by the federal government, for no state has the resources to develop properly our knowledge and use of the sea."

Club Hears How Convention Works

Karl V. Christerson of Salinas, chairman of the Monterey County Republican Central Committee, told members of the Monterey Peninsula Republican Men's Club Tuesday night how the Republican National Convention in San Francisco will operate.

Christerson explained that California has 560 seats of the 4,500 Republican state organization seats at the GOP convention in San Francisco opening July 13.

He said there are various ways of apportioning these seats. Each state assemblyman and senator holds one seat and two seats for every county they represent. The Cow Palace's other 16,000 seats beyond the 4,500 will be occupied by national and state Republican dignitaries.

Committee Function

Christerson pointed out that confusion arises about the operation of the Republican Convention. He said that it is the whole responsibility of the Republican National Committee and the state host has nothing to do with its operation. The only representation from the state in the operation, he said, comes from the voice represented by the state's national committeeman and woman. Each state has two representatives for the Republican National Committee.

Tickets for the convention are virtually impossible to obtain, Christerson stated, but he said that visitors who wanted to see the convention's facilities on July 11 and 12 could obtain visiting tickets by calling him in Salinas or by calling the local Republican Central Committee office in Salinas before these dates.

Goldwater Pledge

Christerson also pointed out that because of the California primary results the 86 California Republican delegates are pledged to Sen. Barry Goldwater during the first two or three ballots of the convention.

The nearest Republican delegate to this area, Christerson said, is Worth Brown a businessman in Santa Cruz. Paul McKinstry of Carmel, local chairman of the Goldwater committee before the primaries, is Brown's alternate.

Former Republican delegate for the 1960 GOP convention in Chicago, George Tomlinson of Carmel, explained procedures for delegates during the convention.

Break Pledges

Tomlinson said most delegates are pledged for the first two or three ballots but after that they go their own way in voting. He said sometimes, if the convention becomes snarled, other state delegates will break away from their pledge before the first ballot. He said delegates change their votes many times by being persuaded by candidate backers.

Both Christerson and Tomlinson urged support for the Republican candidate for state senator from this area, Stephen Magyar. Kirke Erskine, president of Monterey County Young Republicans Club, urged Republicans to present a united front at the convention.

Next meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Republican Men's Club will be July 20 in the Carmel High School Library.

Kiwanians Form Club In Castroville

Monterey Kiwanis Club members formed a new Kiwanis club in Castroville last night.

Frederic R. Silvey, governor of the California-Nevada-Hawaii District of Kiwanis made the chapter presentation before 120 Kiwanis members from Monterey, Carmel, Carmel Valley, Salinas, Hollister, Santa Cruz, Pacific Grove and Seaside.

Oran F. Shannon, lieutenant governor of the three districts introduced Silvey. George Dovolis of the Monterey Kiwanis Club helped present the three flags of Canada, Mexico and the United States where Kiwanis is represented. Former president of the Monterey Kiwanis Club, Stephen G. Magyar, acted as master of ceremonies.

New officers for the Kiwanis of Castroville are Marino A. Cursi, president; Paul C. Murray, vice president; Joseph X. Stone, secretary; and Jess Esparada, treasurer. The new directors are Charles Jaurique, Owen Moore, Don Crosier, Stan Spray, Nick Haro Jr., Wally Lim and Les Barker. There are approximately 20 new members of the club.

Monterey Kiwanis is sponsoring the new club.

Demos Open Headquarters

GONZALES — Complete with all the trimmings, including politicians to cut the ribbon, the Democratic party opened its first Gonzales headquarters Saturday morning.

Under the directorship of Mrs. Fanny Jones, the party headquarters will be open daily from 10 a.m. next to the Gonzales Tribune building on Third street.

Congressional candidate Sandy Bolz and State Senator Fred Farr attended the grand opening Saturday, and Farr cut the ribbon officially opening the headquarters.

During the morning, persons passing on the street dropped in for a cup of coffee and a chat with Bolz, who termed the headquarters opening an historic event.

"This headquarters is a window on the Salinas Valley," the candidate said.

Bolz noted that in the past the Democratic party has been far from active in the valley, generally conceding the area to the GOP. But, he said, those days are passed.

"We want the people in the valley to know that the Democratic party will come to them," Bolz said.

Mrs. Jones, whose husband operates a laundromat near the newly opened headquarters was termed by both Bolz and Farr "a real worker." They said Mrs. Jones volunteered many hours of her time outfitting and preparing the party location for its debut.

Following the opening, Bolz lunched with his valley campaign staff and began outlining the coming battle for the 12th congressional district seat.

Stiffer Law Urged on 'Bugging'

State Sen. Fred Farr of Carmel today called for tighter laws controlling the use of electronic listening devices and other types of secret "bugs."

Farr today asked the state's legislative counsel to give him a report on existing controls and to write a bill plugging loopholes which allow the invasion of a person's privacy.

Farr said he also would bring the problem before the State Senate Judicial Committee, of which he is a member.

The senator's action came as result of the discovery last week by County Supervisor Tom Hudson that the library in his Monterey law offices was bugged.

Hudson found a small radio transmitter in the drawer of a conference table.

Police Investigate

Farr Calls for Stricter Laws On Bugging

They have found that the tiny radio, smaller than a package of cigarettes, can be purchased from electronic supply houses. While the range of the transmitter is advertised as up to 200 feet, police have received conversations through the radio at a distance of 100 yards.

They said the radio was perfectly capable of transmitting conversations from Hudson's office to a receiver in a car parked on nearby streets.

They have not yet determined where a receiver was located during possible secret surveillance of Hudson's office.

Farr expressed great concern over the general problem of "bugging" as an extremely serious invasion of an individual's right of privacy.

Laws Weak

"The judiciary committee has been studying this problem for a considerable time," he said, "and I am convinced our state laws are not strong enough to control properly the use of listening devices."

Hudson found the device in his office last week, but could give no reason why someone would want to bug his office.

However, since he is a public official, many conversations concerning county government have been held around his conference table. Members of Fluor-Old Town Development, one of the bidders on the Monterey renewal project, also have held frequent meetings in his law library.

PENINSULA PARADE

Then there was the blonde who sat up all night with a calendar trying to figure out why all our famous men were born on holidays.

—By PROF. TORO—

Details, Details. . . It was the night before a gigantic wedding in Carmel. Bridesmaids and ushers and flowers and relatives and all of the other equipment was gathered for the rehearsal.

On the sidelines other people were preparing a big rehearsal party. Oh, it was going swimmingly. Bride and groom tripped through the whole thing with nary a hitch, and if you poke around in that sentence, you may find a little dividend.

Almost absent-mindedly, with a depreciating chuckle, the minister said, "Of course you remembered to get a marriage license."

Chaos. It was the only thing they had forgotten. Now if you were in this situation, who would you call? The same man everyone else calls, of course. Fred Farr. Did he come through? He came through.

I'm told that after what he had to go through to get the license, though, even the groom was in better shape than he was the day of the wedding.

Samuel S. Farr, son of Senator and Mrs. Fed Farr, has joined the Peace Corps and is off on his first assignment—Columbia, South America.

Columbia, at present, has the largest Peace Corps program in the world, developed and administered in cooperation with CARE.

Sam had graduated a year ago from Willamette University in Oregon. His earlier schooling was in Carmel schools near the family home.

SENATOR FARR TO PRESENT DIPLOMAS TO CHARM SCHOOL GRADS

Senator Fred S. Farr (D-Carmel) will be present in Marina Thursday to present graduation diplomas to 15 girls graduating from the Youth Center charm school.

The charm classes, under the direction of Mrs. Rosemary Fessler, included use of makeup, hair and skin care, poise and grace and the proper use of clothing.

Parents and friends are invited to attend the graduation but are requested to make reservations in advance.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Joe Tate and Mrs. Francis Williams, the latter being the Youth Center Director.

Miss Gutierrez Is 'Miss Filipiniana'

Miss Dahlia Gutierrez, 1905 Mariposa, was crowned Miss Filipiniana for 1964, by Senator Fred S. Farr and Miss Margaret Mooney, 924 Via Verde, Del Rey Oaks, who was Miss Filipiniana of 1963. Miss Gutierrez, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Sucro, is majoring in education at San Jose State College. She is also a pianist.

Two other Seaside girls became princesses of the Filipiniana Club at the coronation ball, which was held at Monterey Fairgrounds. They are Miss Dolor Daaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Daaton, 1189 Phoenix, who is in her junior year at Seaside High and Miss Lily Lorenzo, daughter of Major (ret.) and Mrs. S. B. California Faces Problem With High Court Ruling

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California faces a troublesome problem of living up to the U.S. Supreme Court's broad new image of state legislatures across the land.

The high court set off a wave of startled reaction—most of it critical—by ruling that both houses must be apportioned on a population basis.

Geographic Lines

California, since 1927, has followed the population precept for the 80-member Assembly. It has patterned the 40 Senate districts along geographic lines.

The result:

1—A lower house where the big cities predominate and an upper house where the "cow counties" have exerted influence far beyond their numbers.

2—A situation in which the seven Southern California counties below the Tehachapi with 60 per cent of the state's population have been represented by only seven senators.

Not Till 1965

Most sources agreed with Gov. Brown that, clearly, the sweeping court decision will require California to redistrict the Senate. They said, however, it probably won't take place until the 1965 session and go into effect with the 1967 session.

Beyond that, nobody could say for sure yet just how the state will proceed.

1—Will the Senate be "packed" to accommodate new members from metropolitan areas?

2—Or will existing districts be consolidated to keep the size of the Senate down?

3—If the Senate is enlarged, what about the Assembly? The state constitution provides for Assembly reapportionment every 10 years but limits its membership to 80.

Mosk Opinion

Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk, attending a conference in Honolulu, said "some changes in California's geographic method of selecting senators must be undertaken in good faith."

But, he added:

"Whether we can elect one more 'unconstitutional legislature in 1964, whether we can consider factors other than population, what will constitute a good faith effort to reapportion—all remain to be determined."

Sen. Thomas M. Rees (D-

Los Angeles) interpreted the court ruling to mean that his county, which now has 31 assemblymen, would wind up with 15½ Senate seats.

This contrasts with the initiative plan, defeated in 1962, which would have given Los Angeles five additional senators, and one more apiece to San Diego, Imperial, Riverside, San Bernardino, Ventura and Santa Clara.

Rees lauded the spirit of the Supreme Court decision but wondered whether it didn't go too far.

"In a way," he said in Los Angeles, "it kind of destroys the purpose of having two houses if both are going to be the same."

Rees at present is the lone state senator for a county with 6.7 million people. Another senator, William Symons Jr. (R-Inyo) represents about 15,000.

Strike at Heart

Assemblyman Robert W. Crown (D-Alameda) who authored the 1961 Assembly and congressional reapportionment act, said the decision could "strike at the heart of California's balanced bicameral system which has worked so well for us over the years."

Senate President Protem Hugh M. Burns (D-Fresno) agreed, but said he needed legal counsel before deciding the legislature's possible course.

Mayor Samuel W. Yorty, of Los Angeles, who has been fighting in the courts for Senate reapportionment, said that he, for one, wasn't surprised by Monday's decision in Washington.

"This historic decision, of course, will be very helpful to Los Angeles and the area around us," he said. "We have suffered financial discrimination by the State Senate in many ways."

Other comment:

Sen. Jack Schrade (R-Del Mar) — "We must retain our present system of checks and balances." He said the decision was handed down by "a group of extreme liberals in the court and I don't go along with their thinking."

Sen. Edwin J. Regan (D - Weaverville) — "I think the Supreme Court decision is absolutely incorrect. . . The court is legislating rather than just reviewing the issue."

Sen. Richard J. Dolwig (R-Redwood City): "The federal system of representation by necessity takes into consideration the need for representation of rural areas and small states. . . The court is assuming jurisdiction of matters which the framers of the Constitution felt was not a matter for the courts to go into."

Sen. Alan Short (D-Stockton): "At first glance I would say from the decision we will have to consolidate some senatorial areas and that the state constitution will have to be amended."

In Carmel, State Sen. Fred Farr said he disagrees very much with the decision, but that "the court has spoken and California will have to adjust accordingly."

"It looks bad for the people of northern and rural California," the senator said.

He said, however, that he felt the state should await for a decision on the Mayor Yorty case now in the federal courts before moving to change the apportionment of representation.

Farr said he believed the decision was worded in such a way that action would not be necessary until the 1965 session of the legislature.

Farr also said that he felt the Assembly, controlled by the populous south, and the Senate, controlled by the north and rural areas, has provided a very effective system of checks and balances.

"I think the Senate has been very considerate of the interests of the urban areas and, likewise, the Assembly has been considerate of the interests of the rural and northern areas," he said.

NEWS Comments

Why Not Let

Los Angeles Run

Its Own State?

Two choices become a distinct possibility in the light of the Supreme Court's decision on reapportioning state legislatures.

One is to switch to a unicameral legislature — a single house instead of the present senate and assembly.

The other is to make Southern California the 51st state.

Both make some sense.

The court devoted a good deal of time to what seemed a futile exercise, trying to explain that two houses, identically elected, might not vote the same way. It almost seemed as if the justices were trying to justify to themselves this bald intrusion into the business of creating state legislation.

Where there is a single legislative body, it is proper that it represent the people equally. But where you have two, why cannot one act as a check against the other—not to thwart the rights of the majority but to weigh, and protect as necessary, the rights of the minority?

The 10 northernmost counties, for example, now have five state senators. Under the threatened reapportionment, one senator would represent all 10 counties.

What would happen to Monterey? An approximate statewide figure based on the present size of the senate would be one member for each 393,000 residents.

Monterey's 1960 census figure was 198,351, and it has one senator. Thus it would have to double that figure under redistricting.

It could do it by joining Santa Cruz (84,219), San Benito (15,396) and Merced (90,446). That would add to 388,468. And it would mean that Fred

State Control to Southern California

The U.S. Supreme Court decision this week, which said in effect that it is incumbent upon the states to apportion their senates as nearly as possible on the basis of population representation, could place the control of the state in the hands of Southern California.

While California was not directly involved in the decision—it affects six other states—nevertheless, the pattern is set. Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty has a suit pending in federal court challenging the current California system of senatorial apportionment.

Should this reapportionment order be extended to California it could cause inestimable damage to California's No. 1 industry—agriculture—and peril Northern California county of origin water act and the watershed protection act (which prohibits diversion of water from its watershed in amounts greater than those needed in the watershed.)

Shift of senate control to the populous southern areas would mean Northern California agriculturists faced with multiplying problems would have no bulwark against the cities. Even Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who first said that "Californians must reapportion its senate," later conceded that "lots of Southern California people do not have the feeling for our great mountains and our waters and our development areas in the north."

For years the California "federal plan" with the assembly based on population and the senate on "regional considerations" has provided a system of checks and balances that has protected the less populous areas against the schemes of the urban majority and state rule by the city bosses. It has made possible the equitable serving of both industry and agriculture.

Now if the state is reapportioned on the population basis, Southern California would have between 20 and 25 of the 40 seats in the senate—quite enough to take Northern California's water and place state control in the south.

In our immediate area the effect would be felt sharply. Sen. Donald L. Grunsky (R., Watsonville) represents Santa Cruz and San Benito counties with a population of 99,615; Sen. Fred Farr (D., Carmel), Monterey county with a population of 198,350; Sen. Vernon L. Sturgeon (R., San Luis Obispo), San Luis Obispo county with a population of 81,044. The total population of the four counties—379,009—is well below the 393,000 residents which would make up the "ideal" district. This means the four counties would become one district and that only one of these three able legislators would keep office.

Proponents of the population theory insist that "people" and not "places" should be the consideration. They point out that Alpine, Mono and Inyo counties in Northern California with a population of 15,000, have the same representation as Los Angeles county with 6 million people. They claim that the populous areas pay most of the state government costs through sales and income taxes.

Chief Justice Earl Warren held that the "federal" system under which California operates grew out of a compromise between large and small states and was not intended as a model for the states themselves; U.S. senators represent "sovereign" states, but state senators merely represent political subdivisions of their states; and finally, the principle of equal representation can be wiped out if a senate can nullify the actions of a more representative lower house.

Senator Farr while "respecting" the court's decision thinks that California's rural areas would have only "a voice in the wilderness" in the state senate under this reapportionment plan.

Assemblyman Alan Pattee (R., Salinas) is more outspoken. He considers the ruling a body blow to Northern California and predicts a return of non-partisan politics with Northern California against Southern California, regardless of party affiliation.

Naturally, this decision has revived talk of splitting California into two states. However, appealing as this is to Northern Californians, it requires both state and federal approval which is considered an impossibility.

The issue is sure to stir much bitterness before it is resolved. A compromise giving more weight to population factors while still salvaging the concept of regional interest may be the solution. We hope so. We would prefer that to a Southern California "invasion."

Senator Farr Hits Court Ruling on Apportionment

California's rural areas, including Monterey county, would have only a "voice in the wilderness" in the state senate if current reapportionment prospects go through.

So says State Sen. Fred Farr, D-Carmel, in the wake of the U. S. Supreme Court decision that state legislative houses must be apportioned on a population basis. At present, the California Assembly is organized this way, but the senate is apportioned on a geographical basis.

"I disagree heartily with the Supreme Court decision, but I respect it. The court has spoken," said Farr when reached by the Californian for comment at his Carmel office.

Farr, an attorney, made no secret of the fact that he is "most unhappy" with the ruling. He did see some hope, however, in the form of a forthcoming ruling on another case which could reverse the effect on California.

Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, he said, has a law suit pending in federal court challenging the current system of senatorial apportionment.

"So the issue isn't settled here as yet," Senator Farr said.

the state senate south of the Tehachapi mountains, to the thickly-populated Los Angeles district.

At present, Farr said, the assembly is south-oriented, while the senate is drawn mainly from the less populous northern counties.

The prospects for Monterey County aren't good, he said, if the new ruling sticks.

The county currently constitutes the 25th senatorial district, but probably would be forced in with Santa Cruz or San Luis Obispo county, or both.

Lose Two Seats

"The Central Coast area would probably lose two senatorial districts at least," Farr estimated.

These and other losses, would go to Southern California, which currently has less than 10 of the state's 40 senate districts.

What's more, Farr declared, the people of California have rejected proposals for senate reapportionment twice in recent years.

Supporters of the population-basis theory point to the fact that Los Angeles County, with 6.6 million people, has one state senator, while another senator from Northern California represents only 15,000 people.

This means that a relative handful has as much voice in the senate as six million persons.

Much the same arguments were used, on a smaller scale, in the county supervisor district battles here and elsewhere in the state. Although defeated once at the polls in Monterey county, the supervisorial redistricting proposals eventually met success at the state level. Supervisorial districts in Monterey county, as a result, have been reorganized on a population basis.

Farr Raps Unicameral Proposal

State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) today said he disagrees with suggestions recently advanced that California should abolish one house of its legislature should both houses be forced to redistrict on the basis of population to conform with last week's Supreme Court decision.

"Unicameral legislatures have never been successful," Farr said. "Nebraska is the only state with such a legislative body, and students of government agree it has not been satisfactory."

Farr said that even if both houses of the California legislature should be popularly elected "there will still be distinctions between the bodies."

He cited these distinctions: "Senators will be fewer in number, serve longer terms and have more constituents than Assemblymen. Moreover, more thoughtful and better considered legislation is obtained when a bill must receive the scrutiny and approval of two legislative houses before becoming law."

Farr is up for re-election in November.

Proposed "balconies" for spots proposed for development into scenic view turnouts, from which tourists may admire the beauty, take pictures, or have a picnic.

Inspiration was derived from a stop at the home of the committee's vice chairman, Nathaniel Owings, whose "eagle's nest" clinging to the cliff south of Big Sur commands the kind of view in three directions that the committee seeks to make more accessible to the public.

Trial Basis

During a meeting preceding the tour, Robert Dattel, State Division of Highways engineer for District 5, told the committee approval has already been given to develop "three or four" of the vista points on a trial basis.

"We can't add to the beauty of this highway, but we can provide this service," he said.

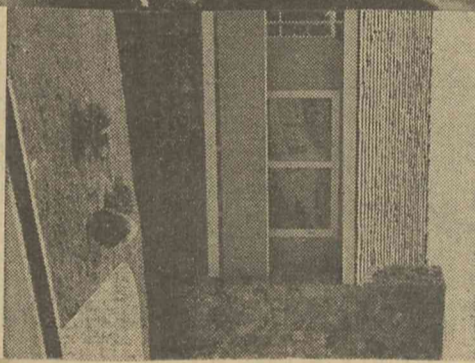

He estimated the cost of development at $7,000 a piece, including acquisition of the land, grading, paving, installation of railings and signs.

Most of the turnouts are already in existence in an undeveloped state. The program calls for paving of a parking area, which would be separated from the viewing area by a low fence or other barrier.

Proposed Signs

It is proposed that signs be installed for southbound traffic reading, "A V I S T A Point 1/4 Mile," with a second sign marking the turnout.

Dear Fred:

My warm and grateful thanks for your support of my re-election. It was a long and difficult struggle which I hope will leave no lasting division within the delegation.

I am sure it was not always easy for you to stay with your position, and I feel a strong obligation to you because of it. If I can be of help to you in any way, please let me know, it would be a pleasure.

The Honorable Fred S. Farr

Dear Fred:

I am writing to thank you for your support of Gene Wyman and Libby Gatov in San Francisco.

I said at the close of the caucus that if there are any possible grounds for further family fights, we Democrats will find them. It was intended as humor, but it has a serious side as well. Our party has always drawn its strength from people who are willing to stand up and be counted, to take sides and fight for what they think is the right thing.

I know the pressures this often puts on people. I know how tough it is to make a choice when it involves people who have put in many years of service to the party. For that reason, I am doubly grateful for your demonstration of loyalty to Libby and Gene and, indirectly, to me. I can assure you I will not forget it.

We now have it in our power to give the history books the greatest of all presidential victories and at the same time increase our party's majorities in the Congress and the Legislature. That's my next goal. I know I can count on you in that fight, too.

Again, thanks for your support.

Sincerely

EDMUND G. BROWN, Governor

San Antonio Dam Construction Begins

Construction of the San Antonio Dam financed by a $12.9 million bond issue began today with preliminary excavation of earth.

Loran Bunte, Monterey County Flood Control and Water Conservation District engineer, told the Californian that Green Construction Co. of San Mateo had started moving dirt from the San Antonio River bottom.

In related action, the Monterey County Board of Supervisors awarded Phil Calabrese Construction Company of Sand City the contract for the 450 campsites at the dam. The award was made on the best bid of $38,549, according to Bunte.

Completion Target

Actual construction of the 198-foot high dam must be completed by Dec. 31, 1965, Bunte said.

The dam must be ready to store water in the winter of 1965-66. Included in the overall project are 11 miles of access roads, 70-foot-wide launching ramps in each of the four recreational areas, 450 campsites, 145 picnic sites, 150 trailer sites and water and sewage facilities.

The earth-filled dam will be 1,432 feet long with a volume of fill of 3,600,000 cubic yards. It will create a reservoir of 14.2 miles in length at its maximum and 5.1 miles at its minimum.

Green Construction was awarded the contract June 15 with a bid of $6,927,780—nearly $2 million below Bunte's estimation of $8,661,000.

Money, however, from the bond issue will be used for acquisition of land at the dam site, cost of access roads and relocating of power lines, Bunte said.

Recreation facilities at the future lake will be financed by a $3,795,000 grant from the state.

Magyar Makes Big Hit with Rotarians

Stephen Magyar, Republican candidate for state senator, recorded a 1,000 on the Rotary Club laugh meter with a highly entertaining address at yesterday's luncheon meeting at Keefer's.

"The Candidate" was the title of Magyar's talk and it dealt mainly with the events leading up to his candidacy and the many humorous incidents he's encountered since aspiring to the post presently held by Fred Farr.

While his remarks were primarily on the lighter side, the Pacific Grove contractor left the Rotarians with some serious thoughts on their selection of governmental representatives.

"It's a sad testimony to the electorate when the concept of the politician to so many people is that of a crook," he stressed. "I resent this. Why do we send dishonest people to Sacramento and Washington? As businessmen we wouldn't have them as employees."

Program Chairman Tom Grim was joined by Roy Gleason and Rotary President Bill Hargis in complimenting Magyar for his interesting, fast moving presentation.

BPWC Project to Aid Scenic Route

Project of the year for Carmel Business and Professional Women's Club has a local flavor, with heavy statewide overtones.

Club president, Mrs. Ed (Florence) Viall, speaking for the Carmel Women's group, this week announced its 1964-65 Scenic Highways Project.

"Our own Coast Highway will probably be designated as the first state scenic highway," she said.

"State Senator Fred Farr of Carmel was author of the State Scenic Highways Bill and saw its passage through in the 1963 legislative session. This gives the women of the Carmel Business and Professional Women's Club a special incentive to help promote the planning of scenic corridors with high standards of protection of nature's wonders throughout California," she continued.

Kickoff of the new project is set for August 18, at which time Senator Farr will address the assembled members of the five Business and Professional Women's clubs of the Monterey Peninsula.

Sen. Farr Hits Plan to Stop Del Monte Run

State Sen. Fred Farr of Carmel is opposing a request by Southern Pacific to abandon the historic Del Monte Limited between Monterey and San Jose.

In a letter to the Interstate Commerce Commission, Farr pointed out that two previous attempts by the company to abandon the run have been refused after public protests.

Noting that California's population is expanding at an "incredible rate," Farr cited the need for transportation systems other than by car.

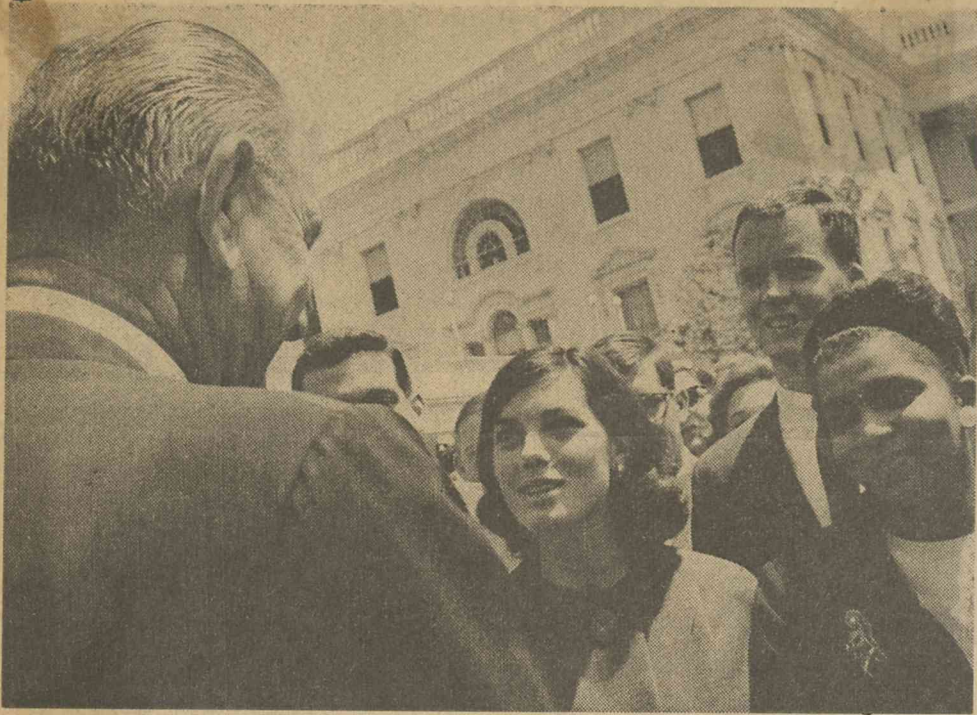

"It would be tragic if the Interstate Commerce Commission were to thwart rather than promote this policy," said Farr.

Monterey Doctor New Democrat Committee Chairman

Soledad cattleman and active Democrat central committeeman Bob McCandliss came within a whisker of being elected chairman of the county Democratic central committee last week.

The new chairman is Dr. Robert Bowersox, Monterey physician.

At an election meeting in Salinas, the voting between the two candidates for the office was tied 7 to 7 when State Sen. Fred Farr, an ex-officio member, walked in and cast his verbal vote for McCandliss.

Temporary chairman Don Hamburger ruled that a voice vote was not valid and in the secret balloting a switch in voting gave the Monterey doctor the chairmanship.

Demo Committee Supports Quest for Lower Beef Imports

Cattlemen received support in their fight for lower levels of beef imports last Tuesday night from the Monterey County Democratic Central Committee.

On a motion presented to the committee by Bill Smart, King City, and Bob McCandliss, Soledad, both county cattlemen, it was agreed to ask President Johnson, Secretary Freeman, and Senator Engle to support efforts now being made in Congress to roll back quotas to a level based on a 1959-1963 average.

The committee also recognized that present depressed prices for cattle and calves result largely from excessive beef and veal imports from Australia, New Zealand, Ireland, and Mexico.

Text of the complete resolution unanimously adopted by the committee is as follows:

"The Monterey County Democratic Committee recognizes that the present depressed prices for cattle and calves results to a significant extent from an unusually high level of beef and veal imports.

"We therefore endorse steps presently being considered by Congress which would reduce the existing import quotas of beef and veal from Australia, New Zealand, Ireland, and Mexico to a level based on a 1959-1963 average, and direct that President Johnson, Secretary Freeman, and Senator Engle be immediately advised of this action, and further direct that it be referred to the California State Democratic Convention."

Three Major Utilities To Give Rumford Pro-Con

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Three major utilities have agreed to conduct educational campaigns among their employees on the pros and cons of the Rumford Housing Act, according to William M. Bennett, a member of the California Public Utilities Commission.

He made the announcement Wednesday at a news conference attended by executives of Pacific Gas and Electric, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., and Western Greyhound Lines.

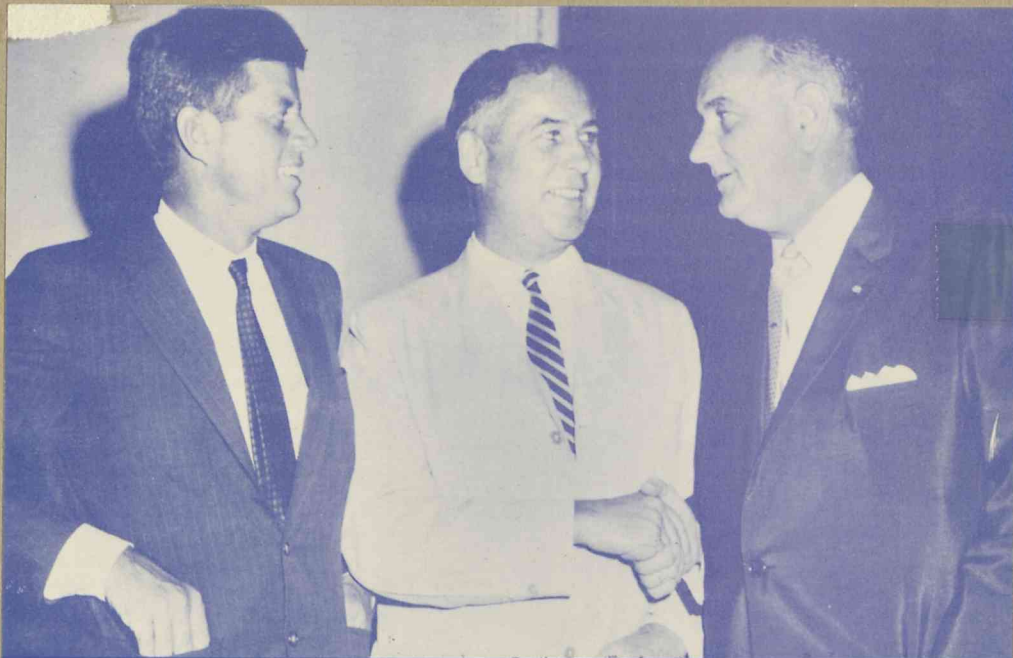

The Rumford Act would be repealed by Proposition 14, an initiative measure seeking to permit landowners to refuse to sell or rent on the grounds of race, religion or creed.

Bennett said the educational campaign planned has developed from a year of quiet discussions among him, Negro leaders and utility executives.

The executives said they could acquaint their employees with the issues involved in Proposition 14 through house organs, payroll envelope inserts, bulletin boards and employee meetings — but emphasized that the companies would not urge their employees to vote one way or another.

CALIFORNIA AFFAIRS

Another Senator Raps Court Ruling

By Henry C. MacArthur

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Another California senator lashed out at the recent decision of the U.S. Supreme Court on legislative reapportionment, declaring it is "viewed with alarm by nearly all members of both houses of the state legislature."

He is Sen. Stephen P. Teale, D-Westpoint, who represents Calaveras, Mariposa and Tuolumne Counties, one of the lowest areas in population in the state.

The Supreme Court decision held that state legislatures must be apportioned, as to both houses, on the basis of population. California's legislature is apportioned on a population basis for the Assembly, and on an area basis for the State Senate.

"California," said Senator Teale, "has long recognized that it takes many factors to make a prosperous and smoothly operating unit of government. This applies particularly to a state of the size and diversity of California."

"Population per se is not sufficient to accomplish factors such as climate, agricultural development, raw material resources and their proper development and management."

"The inanimate factors may exist without population, but the reverse is not true. Population must have available to it either within a state or immediately adjacent to it, these other resources."

"California, early in its history, found that to assure proper legislative management and protection of both its human and inanimate resources, a bicameral type of legislature with each house representing a different interest, was necessary. Such has been the situation since 1927."

Teale pointed out the validity of his remark has been proven over a period of 40 years, and that progress has been made in all fields of development, with the experience that neither house of the legislature has been able to develop legislation singly which preserves the proper balance between human needs and management requirements of area use, but that compromise of opposing views has been highly successful.

"Legislative activity of the type recently indulged in by the Supreme Court poses a threat not only to the orderly development of our individual states, but also the democratic prerogatives of the people themselves," he declared. "It could subject consideration of various values within a political entity to the absolute control of a vocal minority within the vast population centers."

Senator Teale said destruction of the type of legislation now governing most of the states would prove disastrous to state government, which must manage widely divergent interests.

He said ultimate application of the court's theories could apply to the national structure, and result in "disastrous confusion."

Meanwhile, progress is being made legally in what will amount to the California challenge to the Supreme Court decision. Plans are going forward for senate intervention in two court cases in which the attitude of the State Senate will be given.

Whether legal moves will be cleared before the beginning of the 1965 legislature is questionable, but attempts will be made to change the apportionment when that time comes.

Sen. Farr Says Present Two-House Legislature Has Worked Out Well

State Sen. Fred Farr was principal speaker before Salinas Optimists meeting at the Italian Villa Friday noon.

Reapportionment of the State Senate on a population basis as a result of a U. S. Supreme Court ruling was his main topic. The check and balance feature of the two "houses" as they exist now, with Senate on geographic basis and Assembly on population basis, he said, has worked out well, and similar government is used by other states except for Nebraska, which has a unicameral legislature. Senator Farr said the ruling would not be immediately enforced and no doubt the newly elected senators this fall could take office without interference. Blocking of the ruling could be accomplished by reconsideration of the Supreme Court to modify the provisions, or by constitutional amendment as a result of ratification of three fourths of the state legislatures. Also, California could solve the inadequate representation of sparse areas by dividing Northern and Southern California, but this is not easy, the senator noted.

A brief discussion of some of the propositions on the November ballot, with a recommendation that voters study the issues carefully, with help of the San Francisco Commonwealth Club or Los Angeles Town Hall publications suggested, concluded Senator Farr's talk.

Tony Royal, spoke on behalf of a "yes" vote for the Salinas Union High School District Bonds next Tuesday, with great emphasis on the genuine serious need of class rooms for our rapidly growing enrollment, and a vote of confidence in supporting the elected school board charged with providing an adequate school system.

Paul Halvinik, administrative assistant of Senator Farr, Gene Ares, Larry Bailey and Lock Priatt of the Valley Center Optimist Club, were guests.

MONTEREY COUNTY SPORTSMEN'S COUNCIL
MINUTES OF JULY 6, 1964

President Roy Slater called the meeting to order at 8:30 P.M., and after introducing Senator Fred Farr, asked all delegates and guests to introduce themselves and give the name of the club they represent. President Roy then introduced Bob Holmes and Gene Halter who were here gathering ideas and suggestions for forming a sportsmen's council in San Luis Obispo County. Capt. Howard Shebley introduced Don Pine, Dept. of Fish & Game, replacing Bob DeFerrari who recently resigned from the department.

The Central California Brittany Club, represented by Clarence Schriever and J.V. Warren, was accepted as a member of the Council. The C.C.B. Club is a newly formed club with 24 members and growing fast. Good luck and much success to the new member club.

Minutes of the previous meeting were approved as mailed.

Capt. Shebley reported that the litterbug signs at Lake Nacimiento are of little value without some means of inforcement. The signs disappear as fast as they are put up.

A letter was requested to the Monterey County Board of Supervisors as to what action has been taken on the request by this Council for County Fine Monies.

Senator Farr was given the floor to talk on stream pollution by logging operations and other offenders, and deer depradation. The senator stated that he had visited the Garapatta and Wildcat Creeks area and again at a later date with the California Natural Resources Committee. As chairman of the Committee he will introduce legislation at the next session to establish a forest practices act for Monterey County. He asked for and received the support of the Sportsmen of Monterey County. The Senator also said he would ask for a change in the Fish & Game code (sec. 4181) which governs the use of depradation permits for deer. The change he will seek would permit the rancher to allow any hunter with a special permit to come in and shoot and utilize the meat. Similar action was requested by this council before the last session of the Legislature, but received no action.

Senator Farr also asked for support of the Sportsmen for proposition number one on the November ballot. He explained the immediate necessity for acquisition and development of additional recreational facilities. He pointed out that last year, as many as 750 campers were turned away in one day at Big Sur because all available sites were taken. He also stated he believes about $60 million will be returned to the local counties if Proposition Number one is passed.

The subject of European Wild Pig hunting received considerable discussion. Some ranchers feel there should be no season while others feel it should remain pretty much as it is but be extended to open with the coastal deer season. It was pointed out that the majority of those opposed to the season and complain of damage do not allow any hunting on their property. It was agreed that a system of tagging similar to deer and bear should be used on all pigs killed. The tagging system would provide the department with some indication of the amount of hunting pressure and number taken as well as a status of the herd. All Clubs are asked to consider season, tagging and annual bag limit, and present their recommendations at the next meeting on August 31, at the Palace in Gonzales. It is hoped that a 7:00 P.M. sharp dinner and an earlier business session will permit all business to be considered and an earlier adjournment.

Meeting adjourned at 10:55 P.M.

Respectfully submitted,

E.A. KELLEY, Secretary

A Peace Corps volunteer, in a letter to his parents in Carmel, wonders if any clubs, schools, or organizations in this area will help him with a project in South America.

The volunteer is Sam Farr, the son of Senator and Mrs. Fred Farr. He is in Medellin, Colombia, situated in a valley of the Andes.

"We don't like to ask for money from the United States, because we think it isn't community development, also asking for money is like foreign aid, nothing but a gift. But I have found an area where you can help us. None of the schools in our barrio have desks. Students have to bring a chair from home, or sit on a brick or rock.

"They just don't have the money to buy desks, so I'm wondering if clubs, schools, etc. would think of working on an overseas project of providing desks for our schools. Probably wouldn't cost more than $200 for all the desks in all the schools.

"I'll take some pictures to show you how bad the school desk situation is," he promises his family.

Sam goes on to explain that the desks would be made out of wood by the people of the barrio in which he works. They would be of the simple two-pupils-to-a-desk type, he adds.

Money for materials only, to be purchased in Medellin, is required. Sam, like all Peace Corps volunteers, must only show people where he is stationed how to help themselves. His attitude, expressed above, shows that he is reluctant to ask for anything that would seem, in any way, to be like a foreign aid gift.

However, he does see the possibility of a desk-to-desk program in either a public or private school. He also thinks, perhaps, some service organization, church group, or club might like to help him help the people of Medellin to help themselves.

School doesn't start for a month, so Sam, a graduate of Sunset and Carmel high schools, at present, can't expect much action from groups in his old schools. However, his project may appeal to other Carmel groups in the meantime. With this in view, the Pine Cone is passing on his request to his hometown neighbors.

His mother, Mrs. Farr, would like to hear from anyone who wants to help Sam. —M.L.

Mobile Office For Fred Farr Area Visiting

State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Monterey County) has acquired a mobile legislative office for visits to constituents in all parts of the county.

He has made personal purchase of a Ford Econoline which has been especially equipped for the purpose. In so doing Sen. Farr is the first California legislator to use a mobile office for legislative representation.

He will drive the new mobile office annex unit for the first time in a series of county-wide visits scheduled to start next week.

Sen. Farr's itinerary includes more than 30 communities and agricultural areas in his state senatorial district.

dividuals will include discussions relative to current, pending and future legislative measures of significance of all Monterey County.

Barbecue Set for Fred Farr Campaign Fund

Valley Democrats supporting State Senator Fred Farr for re-election this fall have formulated plans for a fund-raising barbecue on Sept. 9. The Memorial hall at Greenfield has been selected for the event.

Bill Smart and Bob McCandliss presided over the initial planning meeting last week. The next planning meeting will be at 5 p.m., Monday, Aug. 17, at the Salinas Land Co. The meeting is inter-

Sen. Farr, In BPWC Address, Will Announce Legislation

State Sen. Fred Farr of Carmel this week announced he will introduce legislation for a state parkways program in the 1965 session of the California Legislature.

The senator's statement was made in connection with his upcoming address to the members of the five Business and Professional Women's clubs of the Monterey Peninsula and the Salinas BPW club. His subject will be scenic highways and will spearhead the Carmel BPW club's scenic highways project.

Sen. Farr said, "While California has pioneered the scenic highway concept and our efforts are being emulated in other states, we are far behind in developing a state parkways program in California."

"New York, New Jer-

Carmel BPW club has chosen the promotion of scenic highways throughout the state as its project of the year, in line with the probable designation of Monterey County Coast Highway as California's first state scenic highway.

Farr's talk is scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 18, 8 p.m. at the Carmel Red Cross building. The Carmel BPW club will host the event.

Sen. Farr Takes Office With Him Around County

By MAC BOWE
Mercury Staff Writer

CARMEL — In the old days elected officials used to carry their offices around with them in their hats.

State Sen. Fred S. Farr (D-Carmel) has done them one better. For the past six weeks Farr, who seldom wears a hat, has been criss-crossing Monterey County in a "mobile legislative office."

Farr's mobile office is a small bus built by one of the American compacts. It is crammed with literature about state government, about fish and game programs, highway plans and other state projects.

"I used to take regular tours through the county, appearing at city halls, justice courts and various central locations," Farr said.

"Now I'm bringing my office right out into the field to my constituents."

The mobile office is likely to be seen parked in a field in some sparsely populated agricultural section of Monterey County while Farr talks to farmers.

Or it might be pulled into a driveway while a housewife complains to Farr about some legislative action and keeps an eye on her children at the same time.

"I've talked to people who might never call at my office or write me a letter," Farr said.

In spite of the modest lettering announcing the purpose of the bus and the small red, white and blue stripes painted on it at eye level, the mobile office attracts a lot of attention.

"Motorists often motion me over to the side of the road when I'm traveling. Small groups of businessmen like to use it as a meeting place because we aren't interrupted by telephone calls."

Not long ago Farr had a meeting with several constituents in the bus.

"We drove to Point Lobos Park and had a picnic lunch while we discussed business," he said.

Some of the features of the bus include a monster map of Monterey County which, when unrolled, is bigger than the bus. Another is a portable voting machine which will be tested in the City of Monterey during the November election.

Under the heading of things to come, Farr plans a tape recorder, a topographic map of the county and a message slot so people can leave notes when the office is parked somewhere.

"I hope to use it at schools later this year as an introduction to civics for students," Farr said.

Farr got the idea for a mobile legislative office from a magazine which described a similar bus used by Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City.

"I'm the only legislator in California to use one," Farr said. "As far as I know, it's the only mobile legislative office on the West Coast as well."

The office on wheels isn't always used for legislative business, however.

Once a lady in a rural area mistook it for a mobile post office.

"Where do I mail my letters?" she asked Farr.

"Right here," replied the senator and popped the letters in a mailbox as soon as he got to town.

Farr to Propose Bill To Prevent 'Bugging'

State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) says in his current news-letter that he plans to introduce legislation "prohibiting the unauthorized use of snooping, bugging and eavesdropping devices" at the next session of the legislature.

Farr said that "our laws must keep pace with the eavesdroppers" and that "the technology of the 20th century permits official and unofficial destruction of the privacy our forefathers sought to guarantee to us" in the 14th amendment.

"The (recent) bugging of Supervisor Tom Hudson's (Monterey) law office has brought this point to the attention of our community," Farr said. "When an attorney and public official cannot consult privately with his clients and constituents, the potential danger to us all is apparent," he said.

Although eavesdroppers have violated the law with respect to Hudson and, if apprehended, will face criminal prosecution, "There is little solace in that," Farr said. "For they might have accomplished their purpose with absolute impunity in that there are too many loopholes in the law that need plugging up."

Sen. Farr to Speak to BPW Clubs on Scenic Highways

Members of Salinas Business and Professional Women's Club, along with members of Monterey Peninsula BPW clubs, are invited to attend the Carmel BPW Club Tuesday evening.

State Sen. Fred S. Farr will speak on scenic highways at the 8 o'clock meeting at the Carmel Red Cross building.

Senator Farr will thus spearhead the Carmel club's project for the year — promotion of scenic highways throughout the state in line with the probable designation of Monterey County's Coast Highway as California's first state scenic highway.

The senator states, "While California has pioneered the scenic highway concept and our efforts are being emulated in other states, we are far behind in developing a state parkway program in California.

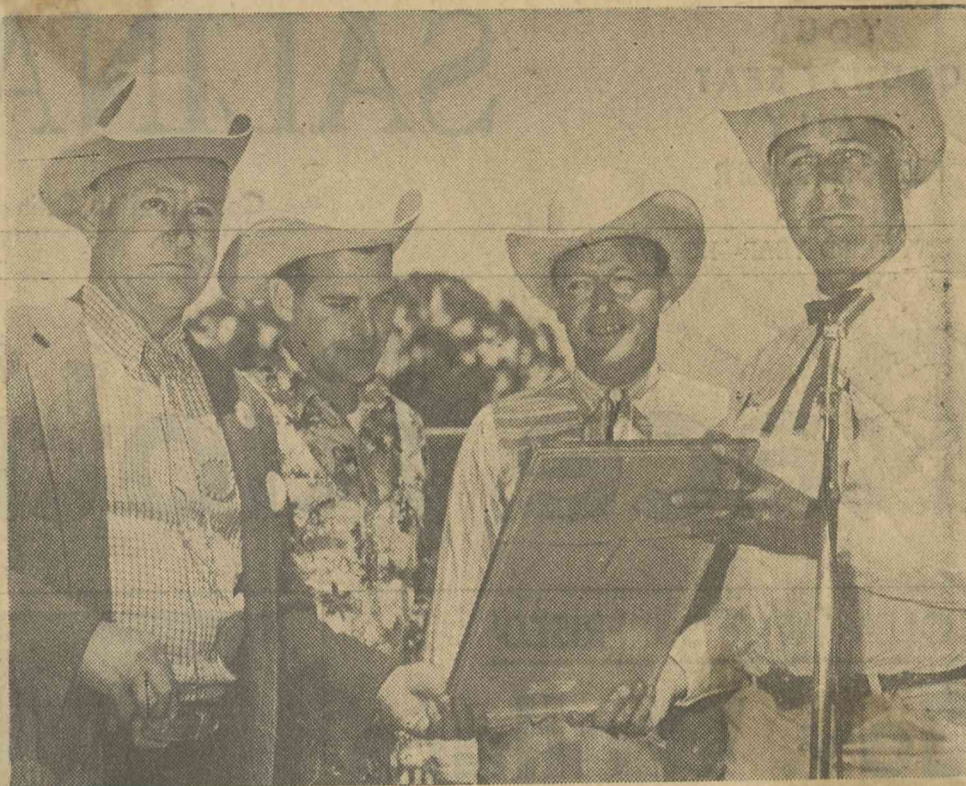

"New York, New Jersey and Connecticut have set fine examples of what we in California can do to provide the motorist with elongated parks featuring roads designed for pleasure travel.

"I shall introduce legislation on this subject in 1965," said Senator Farr.

Democrats Plan Candidates Night On Thursday

Allan Murphy, president of the Monterey Peninsula Democratic Club, today said the Club will hold a "candidates night" at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Hotel Casa Munras in Monterey.

Murphy said the meeting is open to Democrats and "disenchanted Republicans."

Speakers will include Sanford H. Bolz of Salinas, Democratic nominee for Congress; State Assembly candidate Irby E. Bourriague of Felton and State Sen. Fred Farr of Carmel.

Aid for Monterey Fishermen

A federal executive yesterday met with several Monterey fishing executives to advise them of economic opportunities under an amendment to Public Law 480.

As a result of the meeting, the fishermen agreed to apply to the federal government for specific application of the law to the Monterey Bay squid industry.

State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) agreed to assist the fishermen and said he would take up the matter with Interior Secretary Stewart Udall.

Law Expanded

The public law is the Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954, covering sales and shipment of surplus agricultural commodities to foreign countries.

As amended last year, the law was expanded to include surplus fishery products.

The federal official, A. Ralph Ferrandini, told the Monterey group, meeting for luncheon at Lou's Fish Grotto on Fishermen's Wharf, that the law provides an inducement to expansion of such fishery resources as California mackerel, anchovies and squid.

Opportunities

Ferrandini, with the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, U.S. Department of the Interior, said that Public Law 480 offers export opportunities which could create a demand that would keep U.S. fishing fleets in operation during periods when they would be normally idle.

This could, he said, be of great help on a year-round basis to the Monterey Bay fishing industry.

In order to qualify, Monterey Bay fishermen must show that a surplus of squid can be developed. Ferrandini indicated that he felt a "large surplus" could be developed.

Under the trade expansion act, certain foreign countries are enabled to acquire surplus U. S. commodities through barter, famine relief or long-term, low interest rate loans. Payment to U. S. suppliers is insured by the U. S. government.

Farr Joins County Groups in Fight for KC-San Ardo 101 Link

Monterey County's State Sen. Fred S. Farr, in a letter to Gov. Edmund G. Brown, this week urged the state to "expedite the completion" of a freeway between King City and San Ardo.

Farr thus joined forces with the Salinas Valley Highway Advisory Committee, which has appeared an even dozen times before the State Highway Commission in Sacramento since 1952 to request improvement of the dangerous stretch of highway.

"Blood Alley," as the King City-San Ardo portion of U. S. 101 is commonly known, has had top priority with the Salinas Chamber of Commerce since 1959. It is the only part of U. S. 101 which is still two lanes and on which the state has neither advertised for bids or started construction.

Farr said that "Blood Alley," presents a "shocking situation," one that is of statewide and national concern. He described the highway as "antiquated" and said that the injuries and deaths occurring on "Blood Alley" are "appalling."

Farr wrote that "in 1962, there were four persons killed and 95 injured" on Blood Alley, and that in 1963 the toll was five fatalities and 68 injuries. "1964 is still young, but it may be the most macabre. We have already had seven fatalities and 28 persons injured through July 28," he wrote, "and the heaviest periods of accident frequency are August, September and December."

While the right of way for a freeway has been adopted, the budgeting, Farr observed, "is a long way off", with the King City-San Lucas section planned for 1966-67 and the San Lucas-San Ardo section for 1967-71.

"I trust that every effort will be made by you, as Governor, and by the members of the Highway Commission to expedite the completion of this freeway," Farr wrote. "Until 'Blood Alley' is eliminated, loss of life and untold suffering will continue on this two-lane death trap which exists on our principal north-south coastal highway."

'Blood Alley'

Farr Plea To Erase Death Strip

State Sen. Fred S. Farr (D-Carmel) has made a strong appeal to the governor for emergency action in eliminating the treacherous "Blood Alley" strip of Highway 101 in Monterey County.

In a letter to Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Farr cites the "shocking situation" on the two-lane portion of the major state highway between King City and San Ardo. He asked the governor for his personal help in expediting completion of the proposed freeway along this section.

"This antiquated portion of our highway is of statewide and national concern, considering the number of people from all over the nation who use this highway in traveling between Los Angeles and San Francisco," the senator said in his plea.

'Appalling' Toll

Farr listed for the governor the "appalling" accident toll along the strip: In 1962 there were 4 persons killed and 95 injured; in 1963 there were 5 fatalities and 68 injuries; and through July 26 of this year there were 7 deaths and 28 persons injured.

"The heaviest periods of accident frequency are August, September and December," Farr's letter said.

"Moreover, I am informed by the Highway Patrol that whether an accident involves death or is limited to property damage is often purely a matter of chance."

Planning

Freeway right of way for the strip has been adopted, but Farr emphasizes that budgeting is a long way off. The King City to San Lucas project is planned for 1966-67; the San Lucas to San Ardo project for 1967-71.

LETTER TO BROWN

Farr Urges 101 Freeway Now

August 14, 1964

Hon. Edmund G. Brown
Office of the Governor
State Capitol
Sacramento, California

Dear Governor Brown:

A shocking situation exists on Highway 101 between King City and San Ardo, which is the only remaining portion of this major state highway joining northern and southern California that is still two-lane.

Commonly and appropriately termed "Blood Alley," this antiquated portion of our highway is of state-wide and national concern, considering the number of people from all over the nation who use this highway in traveling between Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The injuries and deaths occurring on "Blood Alley" are appalling. For example, in 1962, there were four persons killed and 95 injured. In 1963, there were five fatalities and 68 injuries. 1964 is still young, but it may be the most macabre. We have already had seven fatalities and 28 persons injured through July 26th, and the heaviest periods of accident frequency are August, September and December. Moreover, I am informed by the Highway Patrol that whether an accident involves death or is limited to property damage is often purely a matter of chance. In a more personal vein, two of my very close friends each lost a son on this stretch of highway.

The right of way for a freeway has been adopted, but the budgeting is a long way off. The King City to San Lucas section is planned for 1966-67, and the section between San Lucas and San Ardo for 1967-71. I trust that every effort will be made by you, as Governor, and by the members of the Highway Commission to expedite the completion of this freeway.

Until "Blood Alley" between King City and San Ardo is eliminated, loss of life and untold suffering will continue on this two-lane death trap which exists on our principal north-south coastal highway.

Your help in eliminating "Blood Alley" will be appreciated by all who must travel this dangerous and antiquated highway.

Sincerely,
FRED S. FARR

Pinnacles Route Status Discussed at Meeting Here

Should State Route 146 Remain in State Highway System or Be Returned to City and County Control?

CITY, COUNTY AND STATE was represented at a meeting here Tuesday morning to discuss the pros and cons of the possibility of relinquishing State Route 146 (Pinnacles route) to local control, namely the city of Soledad and the County of Monterey. San Benito County would also be involved since a portion of the road also is in that county. Left to right are: City Councilman Emil Peverini, A. H. Clark, highway leader and chairman of the Salinas Valley Highway committee; Bob Dattel, district highway engineer from the San Luis Obispo office; City Clerk Al Anderson and City Councilman Robert McCandless.

Unless there is complete agreement between the City of Soledad, and the counties of Monterey and San Benito, on taking over control of Pinnacles State Route 146 from the State Division of Highways, there will be no change in its present status, a group of city, county and state representatives were told at a meeting here Tuesday morning.

Robert Dattel, district engineer for the Division of Highways out of San Luis Obispo, asked for the meeting explaining that under state law, the division of highways is required to make a county-by-county study of the state highway system every four years, and the session was a routine one to explore the matter of whether it would be advantageous to return the virtually unimproved Pinnacles route to local control.

ing deletions or additions to the state highway system on a county basis. Only road in Monterey county under question was the Pinnacles route and Dattel emphasized that unless there was complete agreement of the three bodies involved, the road would remain under state control.

The route includes .89 of a mile in city limits and about three miles of improved road (Metz road and 101 business route) and the remainder, about 8 miles, is unimproved dirt road leaving the Metz road to the Pinnacles National Monument boundary. Also involved would be the south railroad underpass. The state now maintains the entire route including the streets involved in city limits.

A portion of the road near the Pinnacles boundary runs through San Benito county (.41 mile) and then back in Monterey territory and returns to San Benito county at the entrance to the Pinnacles Monument.

County Road Commissioner Bruce McLain emphasized that San Benito county would have to first agree to let Monterey county take over maintenance and improvement of the road if the county should take over. He added that under the present policy, $100,000 was budgeted each year for hard-surfacing dirt roads within the county. "It will take 30 years to surface all the present unimproved roads in the county under this program," he stated. 1964 Fair Is Open

8-26-64
1,000 on Hand For Pancakes

By EARL HOFELDT

Pancakes, hot sausage and coffee combined with Mexican music and more than 1,000 sunny smiles to repel a foggy drizzle at the Monterey County Fair Breakfast today.

The traditional breakfast opened the 1964 Fair at the Monterey County Fairgrounds which this year appeared greener and cleaner and more inviting than ever.

The Fair, featuring displays of the county's best in agricultural, livestock, art and homemaking, will run through Sunday night. Total attendance is expected to exceed 100,000.

Although the breakfast crowd was not as large as last year's, the event was more successful in every other regard.

Speedy Service

There were more serving lines, manned by Army cooks from Fort Ord. Breakfast-goers were thus served faster and the breakfast plates remained hot and steamy.

A new wrinkle was table service by Boy Scouts, Sea Scouts and Sea Explorers. Under direction of Mrs. Tom Hudson, they kept coffee cups filled — and this was a special boon as the drizzle became fairly intensive shortly after 9 a.m.

President Wright S. Fisher of the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce received many compliments for the excellence of the chamber-sponsored breakfast and the smoothness of the operation.

He was frank to admit that the crowd was down but he blamed this in large part on last year's debacle when serving lines were too few, delays were too long and a good many people departed with growls instead of grins.

Nothing, of course, can be done about the weather. However, from general comments at the outdoor tables, it appeared that most people take the late August fog for granted on the Peninsula, a challenge easily met by good cheer.

An exciting highlight of the morning was a presentation of the Mexican national anthem and the Star Spangled Banner by an Army band under direction of Warrant Officer Bill Jackson. A rolling drum added a stirring touch to the Star Spangled Banner.

As the anthems were played, a Mexican flag was raised on one side of the bandstand, a U. S. flag on the other.

Raising of the Mexican flag was in keeping with the theme of the 1964—a Mexican Fair or "Feria."

Chuckling Crowd

Ted Durein, managing editor of The Herald, served as master of ceremonies during the post breakfast entertainment. He kept the crowd chuckling.

Among special guests introduced were Maj. Gen. Edwin H. J. Carns, commanding general, Fort Ord; Rear Adm. Charles K. Bergin, superintendent, U.S. Naval Postgraduate School; County Supervisors Tom Hudson, Chester Deaver and Art Atteridge.

Pacific Grove Mayor Al Wells, Del Rey Oaks Mayor James Wilson and Seaside Mayor Beauford (Andy) Anderson; Councilman Minnie Coyle representing Monterey and Councilman Steve Grant representing Carmel.

Members of the Monterey County Fair Board were introduced as were directors of the chamber of commerce who were present.

Candidates

Politicians were much in evidence as well.

Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee was brought to the stage by Durein and a wire was read from State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel). Both are running for reelection. Farr could not attend as he is a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City.

Democratic Assembly candidate Irby Bourriague of Felton was in the crowd along with several of his fans from Santa Cruz County. Democratic congressional candidate Sanford H. Bolz of Salinas also attended.

Entertainment featured Mexican musicians, Mexican dancing and a Mexican magician. All were well received.

Today was "Monterey Peninsula Day" at the fair.

Horse Show

The first performance of the National Horse Show was held this afternoon with another showing set for 7:45 tonight in the horse arena. Morning and evening performances of the horse show will be held daily.

Flower lovers were urged to attend the fair tonight as floral exhibits will be especially fresh.

Tomorrow is "Kids' Day" with features including a free watermelon feed, a quick draw contest and a treasure hunt. Judging in the junior division for dairy cattle and sheep will begin at 9 a.m. tomorrow with senior division judging of dairy cattle to start at 1 p.m.

Mexican mariachis will perform from the stage and also stroll through the Fairgrounds during the balance of the Fair.

Arts And Crafts Awards

Two photographers, two painters, and 3 craftsmen from Carmel Valley won awards at the Fair.

Jim Zeigler's photo of Randi Ayres on her horse with her dog leaping beside her (on display at Young Shoes) received a first place in the animals division. Jody Cooper's wonderful tangle of Siamese cats entitled "Security" took second place in the same category.

Rudolph Marzi of Monterey Pottery took a first and second place for two stoneware pieces, a vase and a jar, both created by an applique technique which superimposes a raised decoration after the piece has been shaped on the wheel. Bruce Goodsell received a first in metals.

Among the painters, in the professional division, Madeline Steffen received an award for a contemporary abstract water color; amateur Cliff Dwyer a trophy for an oil painting.

Charles Daniels of Carmel Valley Road won three ribbons, first, second, and third for woodworking. His beautiful inlayd cigarette boxes and cribbage boards are on sale at Gump's in San Francisco.

Farr Asks Probe at Ft. Ord

State Sen. Fred Farr today labeled the meningitis outbreak at Ft. Ord a "national problem." He indicated he would demand an extensive investigation and help.

"You've got 12 deaths and 71 cases—this is a national problem," said the peninsula legislator.

Senator Farr has wired U.S. Sen. Pierre Salinger to try to get the National Institute of Health to come into the picture. He indicated he was far from satisfied with prospects of the conference opening Wednesday at Ft. Ord between military and civilian authorities on epidemics.

Underscoring the severity of the epidemic at the West Coast infantry training center, Farr pointed out that the troops are sent here from all over the United States.

"Then they mix with people all over. They go away for weekends or on leave," he said.

At Ft. Ord today, meanwhile, there were no new cases reported. Three meningitis patients, however, were discharged as cured yesterday at the post.

This left six in the Ft. Ord Army Hospital under treatment, nine on convalescent leave and two under observation after convalescent leave.

A Ft. Ord spokesman said that the military-civilian conference opening Wednesday is expected to last three days or so. Afterwards a press conference may be arranged for announcements.

Farr Attends Demo Convention

Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) is attending the Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City, N. J. this week as a delegate from California. Accompanying him is his 16-year old daughter, Nancy, a student at Santa Catalina High School in Monterey.

Senator Farr was also a delegate to the Democratic National Convention of 1960.

Other Monterey County residents at the convention are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tuttle of 717 Monterey Highway and Vaughan Parsons. Tuttle, an attorney who is 12th Congressional District director for the California Democratic Council, is a delegate. Parsons, an automobile dealer in Salinas and co-chairman of the Monterey County committee for election of Sen. Pierre Salinger in November, is an alternate delegate.

Farr to Open Drive Wednesday In Greenfield

State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) will kick off his campaign for reelection at a barbecue at Greenfield Memorial Hall at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Principal speaker will be State Sen. Joseph Rattigan (D-Sonoma), chairman of the Senate Committee on Local Government. Greenfield Mayor Emilio Pasque will serve as master of ceremonies.

Farr was first elected in a special election in 1955, then was re-elected to four-year terms in 1956 and 1960.

The public is invited to the barbecue. Tickets are $5 and may be purchased at any Democratic headquarters.

Sen. Farr Calls For Investigation

State Sen. Fred S. Farr today wired Atty. Gen. Thomas Lynch calling for a thorough investigation of the Hell's Angels. Farr told the Californian he was "very concerned" by the motorcycle group and asked Lynch's examination "in order to protect other California communities."

HARASSMENT SUGGESTED

Lynch Will Start State Probe of Hell's Angels

California Atty. Gen. Thomas Lynch today pledged to undertake a thorough investigation of Hell's Angels, the marauding motorcycle club which was run out of Monterey County last Sunday.

State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) told the Californian that he has just had Lynch's personal assurance that the investigation will begin—and with dispatch.

The announcement followed hard on the heels of a demand by the Monterey County Board of Supervisors this morning for just such an investigation as that which Lynch is about to launch.

Monterey Peninsula Supervisor Tom Hudson, fed up with Hell's Angels, suggested that the county engage in active "legal harassment" of the motorcycle club if it decides to assemble here again in force.

"We were just lucky that there wasn't more trouble," Hudson said, after observing that the alleged multiple rape of two Seaside girls, aged 14 and 15, by Hell's Angels on Marina Beach early Sunday was trouble enough.

The board, while demanding the investigation of Hell's Angels, also commended the law enforcement officers of the county for the dispatch with which they handled the whole sticky situation.

Monterey County Sheriff W. A. (Jack) Davenport said that he and Monterey Police Chief Frank Marinello had made it crystal clear to the motorcyclists Sunday afternoon that "any welcome or tolerance they might have had in Monterey County no longer exists."

Davenport characterized the Hell's Angels as "an undesirable mob" which, in fact, "has not ever been welcomed here." Davenport said that law enforcement officers are on the

Angels' in Court; State Quiz Promised on Club

Four members of the Hell's Angels motorcycle club appeared in Monterey Municipal Court today on rape charges arising out of a cruel orgy against two teen-aged Peninsula girls on Marina Beach early Sunday morning.

Entry of plea for each was continued until next Monday at 9:30. Each defendant told Judge Eugene Harrah that he had retained Oakland attorney Stanley Gold to defend him. Each man is free on bail of $1,100.

Meanwhile, State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) announced this morning that Atty. Gen. Tom Lynch has promised to launch an immediate investigation into the notorious motorcycle club — 300 members of which converged on Monterey last weekend.

The Hell's Angels were ordered out of Monterey Sunday afternoon by Police Chief Frank Marinello who backed up his command with the greatest concentration of police force ever mounted on the Peninsula.

Approximately 85 officers, representing each Peninsula city, the sheriff's office and the highway patrol, used 30 patrol cars in chasing the cyclists as far as Castroville.

Reaction

Monterey Mayor George Clemens today refused to "second guess" his chief of police on the question of whether the Angels should have been in Monterey in the first place.

"It is too easy to second guess people," the mayor said. "I know the chief had a hard decision to make."

The Angels came to Monterey last fall during the Jazz Festival and came again this spring over the Memorial Day weekend. In general, they kept the peace on both occasions.

Mayor Clemens complimented all Peninsula and county law enforcement agencies who cooperated in Sunday's effort. "An outstanding job was done. It (Continued on page 2) forcement officers only learned of the motorcycle assemblage in the county through an anonymous letter warning of "an attack from the rear."

When Davenport said that the beach property on which the Hell's Angels camped Friday and Saturday nights was apparently privately owned — although customarily used by the public — Hudson said that the county ought to investigate the possibility of prosecuting members of the club for trespassing. He also suggested that, in the event the motorcyclists make another foray into the county, state narcotics agents and representatives of the Alcoholic Beverage Control department be on hand to meet, greet and question them.

Hands Tied

Davenport said that law enforcement officers' hands are pretty effectively tied if Hell's Angels decide to come again to the county, provided that they violate no laws while they are here. They have the rights and freedoms of American citizens, he said.

Hudson interjected at this point Hell's Angels are "a disreputable bunch of individuals who never should have been given a hint of a welcome."

Davenport was joined by the board in praising the effective work of Marinello in a difficult situation. The Sheriff said that the county's "mutual aid" law enforcement ordinance, invoked for the first time over the weekend, "worked beautifully." But, he said, Hell's Angels probably cost Monterey County about 500 hours of overtime pay for deputy sheriffs.

Davenport said that when he delivered an ultimatum to leaders of Hell's Angels at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon to leave the unincorporated area of Monterey County, "they accepted it." The motorcyclists were also prompt to leave the city of Monterey at 3 p.m. after an ultimatum by Marinello.

The Sheriff said that the two alleged rape victims had broken the county's curfew law and, in even coming near members of Hell's Angels, had done a "foolish and unfortunate" thing.

Davenport also said that Monterey sightseers who had crowded the central part of town to see the motorcyclists were also "foolish."

Four Hell's Angels have been arrested and currently are being held by the county on charge of raping the two girls.

Farr Confirms Hell's Angels Probe by State

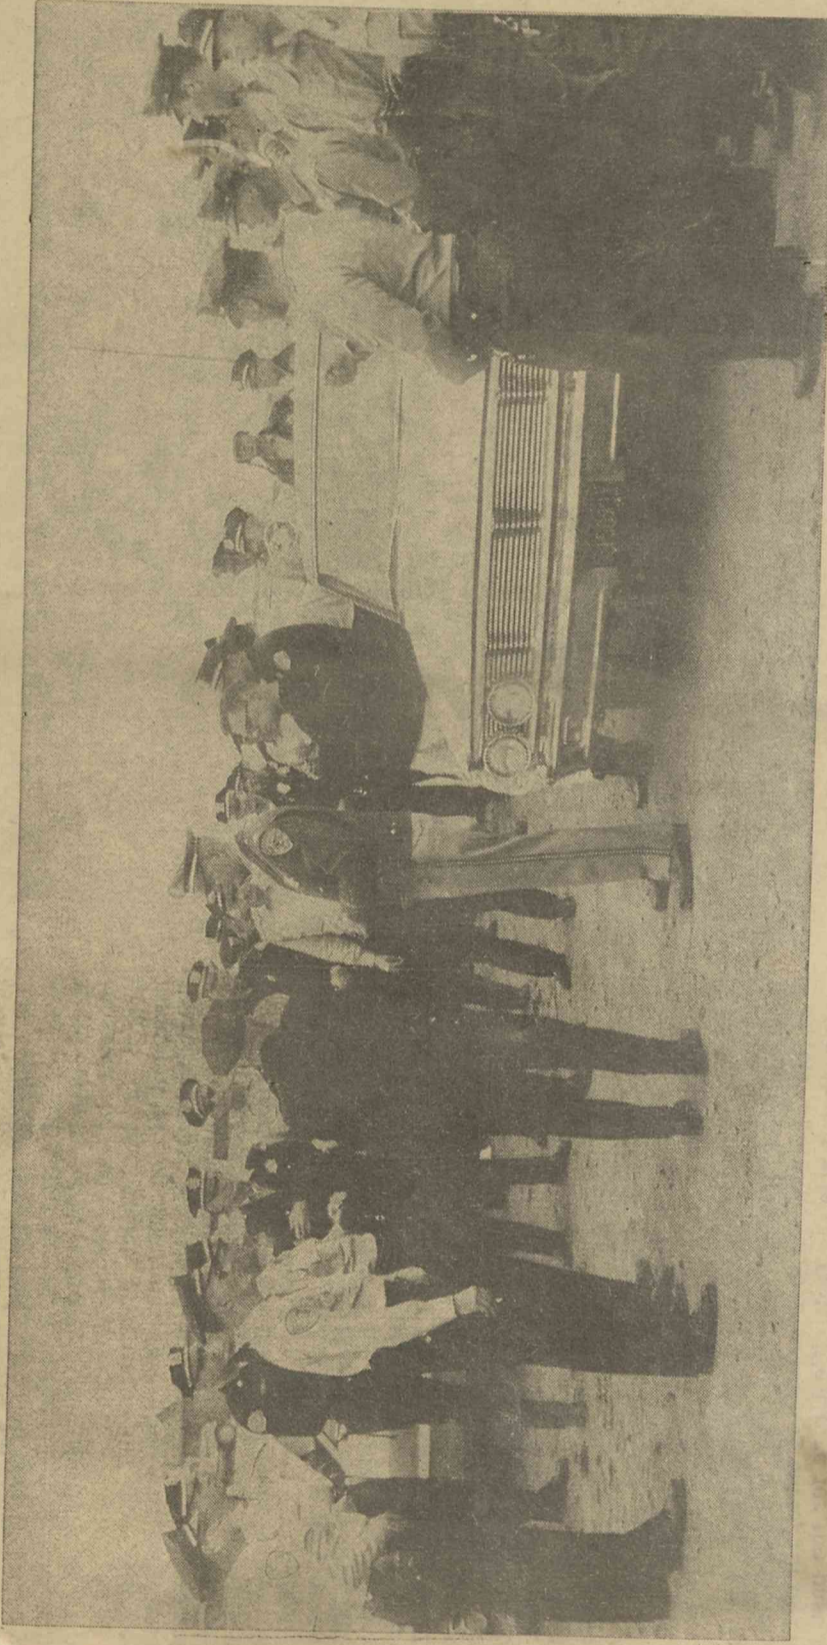

State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) confirmed today an investigation of Hell's Angels Motorcycle Club is currently being made by the Attorney General's office.

In a letter to County Clerk Emmet G. McMenamin, Farr said Atty. Gen. Thomas Lynch was pursuing the matter.

Four members of the marauding cycle club have pleaded innocent to a charge of raping two teen-aged girls on the sand dunes of Marina Sept. 6 during an "invasion" of Monterey.

Immediately following the incident Farr demanded a full-scale investigation of the so-called outlaw motorcyclists. He was backed in his request by the Monterey County Board of Supervisors.

Facing charges of forcible rape are Ceylon H. Cross, 23, Richmond; Marvin W. Gilbert, 22, Oakland; John T. Tracy, 24, San Leandro; and James T. Miles, 28, North Highlands near Sacramento.

Lawmen Rendezvous at Castroville

Monterey Police Chief Frank Marinello, back to camera, gives instructions to assembled police officers at rendezvous in Castroville. Mutual aid between law enforcement agencies on the Peninsula produced a show of strength which left no doubt in the minds of the Hell's

Conquer Poverty

"We seek to conquer the conditions which condemn millions to hopeless poverty. We seek to care for the old through medical care under Social Security, the jobless with increased unemployment compensation, the oppressed with maximum wage protection.

"The ideal of justice depends upon inspiration and dedication. The reality of justice requires the patient concrete toil of a courageous man."

Most observers probably will regard Johnson's speech as the official kickoff of his campaign since it is his first major speech since accepting the Democratic nomination in Atlantic City Aug. 27.

Johnson's Detroit trip came two days before a threatened strike against Chrysler, first target of the United Auto Workers unless an agreement is reached on new contracts.

Angry Senator Vs. Cycle Gang

Monterey

An indignant State Senator yesterday demanded a State-wide investigation into the Hell's Angels motorcycle group which was ordered out of Monterey county after two teen-age girls were raped on a beach ina Beach.

According to the boys accompanying the rape victims, some members of the gang first told the Seaside youths to leave. Afterwards, however, gang members dragged the screaming girls to a place in the sand dunes where they stripped and assaulted them.

The five Seaside youths, helpless to prevent the attacks, got in their car and drove to Highway 1 where they reported the attacks to sheriff's deputies. Deputies Senator Fred S. Farr, who lives in Carmel, asked State Attorney General Thomas C. Lynch for "a thorough investigation of the activities" of the motorcycle group.

Senator Farr's call was echoed enthusiastically by Frank Marinello, the Police Chief of Monterey.

"I think it would be a service to the State if they put an end to the club," Marinello said.

"Their word isn't worth a darn and their leaders lose control of the members once they start drinking."

Marinello had personally ordered some 300 Hell's Angels members and their

By ERIC BRAZIL

GREENFIELD — Three hundred people gathered at Memorial Hall here Wednesday night to honor Monterey County's State Sen. Fred Farr with a testimonial-fund raising barbecue, which became a real political love feast.

For the Carmel Democrat, who seeks re-election on Nov. 3, the event was a campaign kickoff-orama.

After hearing more than an hour of fulsome praise for himself and his legislative accomplishments, Farr arose and said "I really don't think such beautiful words have been said over a warm body before."

That broke 'em up.

Sen. Rattigan Speaks

State Sen. Joseph A. Rattigan (D-Santa Rosa), chairman of the Senate Committee on Local Government, praised Farr in the principal speech of the evening for "courage, judgment, integrity and dedication." He said that Farr is recognized in the Senate as "a pole of popular judgment to which wise men can repair," as "a gentleman, friend and statesman," and as "a great and decent human being."

Rattigan was so taken by the toothsome quality of South County barbecuing that he piled into seconds on steak, beans and salsa before the speechmaking began.

The senator said that, as chairman of the Committee on Local Government, he has probably met a greater percentage of officials from Monterey County than any other in the state by reason of Farr's introduction.

And he said that in the forthcoming campaign Farr's enemies will be "avarice and greed and apathy and hatred."

Historical Rivalry

Rattigan quipped that Farr was his only serious senatorial rival for supremacy in the field of California history. But he held fast for Sonoma County, where the Bear Flag of California was raised. After all, he said, in plugging for the primacy of Monterey County, Farr continually brings up the names of "various dangerous clowns named Sloat and Larkin."

Gov. Edmund G. Brown sent a telegram to the testimonial, which said, in part: "Feed him (Farr) well, tonight and send him back to Sacramento in the fall."

Three prominent South County Republicans pledged loyalty to Farr. Former Greenfield Mayor Emilio Pasque, who was master of ceremonies, said

"we want Fred to know that we're all behind him 100 per cent." King City publisher Harry Casey, observing that, as a "black Republican" he felt "like the Jew who wandered into the Vatican," said that, while in past elections "I've done my best" to defeat Farr, "his performance in Sacramento has changed my mind . . . I know that Fred has helped us wherever possible." San Ardo rancher Paul Aurignac said that Monterey Countyans are not prepared to concede that Farr takes second place to any state senator, and that "I'm one Republican who's going to vote to keep him" in the Senate.

Democratic Congressional candidate Sanford Boz of Salinas paid tribute to Farr as a "straight shooter" and a legislator who has built up a "sound, consistent, constructive and truly remarkable record."

Among the dignitaries attending the event were Frank Echeberria of San Ardo, chairman of the Monterey County Board of Supervisors, Monterey County Clerk Emmet McMenamin, Salinas Supervisor Arthur C. Atteridge, Gonzales Mayor Ray Rianda, King City Mayor Emil Meyer, Democratic Assembly candidate Irby E. Bourriague of Felton, and Mrs. Jehanne Salinger Carlson, mother of Sen. Pierre Salinger.

shows the value of our mutual aid program.

"I hope this will serve as a warning against any possible future gatherings of this nature."

Pacific Grove Mayor A. B. (Al) Wells also praised the mutual aid system employed by Marinello.

"The same thing which happened on Marina Beach could have happened on Asilomar Beach," he said. "Then we would have needed additional police support like that Monterey received from Pacific Grove and other surrounding communities."

Seaside Mayor Beauford T. (Andy) Anderson said: "It is unfortunate that we do have to have this type of worry hanging over our citizens. Perhaps proper legislation could be enacted to insure that this type of organization could be turned away from a city."

Acting Mayor Jim Bufington of Carmel — who is also the city's police commissioner — said:

"I feel it is preferable to keep this type element off the Peninsula entirely."

The Monterey Police Department today calculated the cost of policing the visit of the Angels to Monterey, repeatedly.

including mutual aid costs at $1,236.29.

Of this, $385 was in the form of overtime to Monterey police and as such will be a direct bill to the taxpayers.

The four members of the motorcycle gang who appeared in court were John T. Tracy, 24, of San Leandro; James Truman Miles 28, of North Sacramento; Marvin W. Gilbert, 22, of Oakland and Ceylon H. Cross, 23, of Richmond.

All were quite clean in appearance—to the amazement of officers and others who saw them over the weekend in Monterey. One of the Angels actually had shaved off his beard, a policeman said.

"Badge"

During the weekend visit, most of the Angels were extremely dirty, their faces covered with road grime which gave them a sooty appearance. They seemed to wear the grime as a badge of distinction.

Victims of the rape were girls aged 15 and 14 who went to the Hell's Angels beach party along with five youths, aged 20 and 19. At the beach, members of the gang held the youths at bay while the screaming girls were dragged over the sand dunes to a point where they were assaulted.

Greenfield Fete Opens Sen. Farr's Re-election Drive

By EARL HOFELDT

GREENFIELD — With a pledge to fight for rural representation in California government, State Sen. Fred Farr last night came to this land of the sugar beet to open his campaign for re-election.

The 54-year-old Carmel Democrat, a veteran of nine years in the Senate, was lauded in Greenfield Memorial Hall during a steak barbecue sponsored by his friends in South County.

Feature tribute came from State Sen. Joseph A. Rattigan (D-Santa Rosa) who called Farr a man of "courage, judgment, integrity and dedication... my epitome of a great and decent human being."

After listening to the outpouring of praise, Farr began his response by saying "I don't think such fine words have ever been said over a warm body before."

Problems

Turning serious, Farr said the 1965 legislature faces many major problems, one of the "tremendous" ones being the question of reapportionment.

Speaking in an area acutely sensitive to the topic of reapportionment because of last year's State Supreme Court ruling which cost South County one of two representatives on the County Board of Supervisors, Farr said rural areas have contributed much to California as a whole.

"We must do the best we can to make sure that rural California and Northern California maintain a strong voice in the California Legislature."

180 Attend

Farr told a crowd of more than 180—who came from all sections of the county—that if re-elected he would work for an equitable solution to the problem created by a U.S. Supreme Court ruling ordering reapportionment of state senates on a population basis.

At the same time, Farr said, "You must bear in mind that a senator is not only a representative of our counties but of California and for the State of California."

In praising Farr, Sen. Rattigan said he had not come to criticize or condemn Farr's opponent (Republican Stephen G. Magyar of Pacific Grove whom he did not name).

"I do not know who he is and I do not ever expect to know who he is. I only know what he is not... that he is not Sen. Fred Farr."

More Tribute

Preceding Rattigan in the line-up of tribute-payers were Harry Casey, editor of the King City Rustler and Greenfield News; Paul Aurignac of San Ardo, member of the State Board of Forestry; congressional candidate Sanford H. Bolz of Salinas and Bob McCandliss, Soledad cattle feeder and member of the Monterey County Democratic Central Committee.

Casey identified himself as a "black-hearted" Republican who has editorially opposed Farr in the past. "I have done my damndest to beat Fred in the past but the job he has done in Sacramento has changed my mind."

Aurignac, also a Republican, said that now "that we are in danger of losing our State Senate to the nine black-robed men in Washington," it is more important than ever "that we send Fred Farr back to Sacramento."

Bolz, saying he was not a "black-hearted Republican" but rather a red-blooded Democrat, said that Farr's record in Sacramento was one "sound and consistent and truly remarkable achievement." He singled out Farr's work in the Greenfield Mayor Emilio Pasque was master of ceremonies.

Among guests introduced were Mrs. Jehanne Salinger Carlson of Carmel, mother of Sen. Pierre Salinger; County Clerk Emmet McMenamin; Chairman Frank Echeberria of San Ardo, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors; Supervisor Art Atteridge of Salinas and many more. Assembly candidate Irby E. Bourriague of Felton also attended.

Farr first was elected to the State Senate in a 1955 special election following the death of Republican Fred Weybret. Farr was re-elected in 1956 and 1960.

RE-ELECTION KICK OFF DINNER FOR SENATOR FARR

Senator Fred Farr, The Democratic State Senator, for Monterey County, started his campaign for re-election, last night, with a traditional post-Labor Day Barbecue in Greenfield at the Memorial Hall.

Principal speaker at the affair attended by approximately 400 persons, was the State Senator from Sonoma County, chairman of the Senate Committee on Local Government, M. C. for the festive occasion was Greenfield's Mayor Emilio Pasque.

Senator Farr was first elected to the State Senate at a special election in 1955. In the following year, he received the unusual honor of being nominated by both the Democratic and Republican Parties in the primary election and went on to win the general election unopposed. He was again re-elected in 1960.

KEY FIGURES in Wednesday night's barbecue honoring State Senator Fred Farr (extreme right) include from left Bob McCandless of Soledad, Tiny Benadom, Bill and Les Smart. Greenfield Memorial hall will be the setting for the event which starts with a social hour at 6:30 p.m.

Campaign Kick-Off

300 Attend Dinner Honoring State Senator Fred Farr

State Senator Fred Farr kicked off his November election campaign with a testimonial fund-raising barbecue at the Greenfield Memorial hall Wednesday evening. The affair drew more than 300 people from all over Monterey county who gathered to honor the veteran Democrat who seeks re-election on Nov. 3.

After a sumptuous steak dinner, more than an hour of praise was presented by various prominent citizens of the county, both Democrats and Republicans, who commended Farr on his legislative accomplishments for the area and pledged backing in the campaign ahead. Speakers included Harry Casey, King City publisher; Paul Aurignac, San Ardo rancher; Sanford Bolz, Democratic candidate for congress; and Emilio Pasque of Greenfield who acted as master of ceremonies.

Featured speaker was State Senator Joseph A. Rattigan of Sonoma county. He praised Farr for his courage, judgement, integrity and dedication and added that Farr is recognized as "a poll of popular judgement to which wise men can repair." In his sincere manner, Rattigan added that it was a sincere pleasure to be at the affair honoring his "friend and statesman."

He said "I do not know his opponent...and I'm sure I never will," which was the only reference made all evening to Farr's Republican opponent for representing Monterey county in the state senate.

After Rattigan's talk, Senator Farr added his words of gratitude starting with "I really don't think such beautiful words have ever been spoken over a warm body before."

This brought the house down in applause.

Man Arrested on Marijuana Charge
Jose L. Cervantes, 21, of 544 C. E. Market St., was arrested Sunday afternoon by Salinas police and charged with possession of marijuana. When officers said that they found five marijuana cigarettes in one of his pockets.
A detective had stopped Cervantes and was going to arrest him on a traffic warrant on E. Market Street near Simas Street. When he approached Cervantes, he said he wasn't going to be arrested, and started to reach in his pocket for something. Officers handcuffed him and then found the marijuana cigarettes in his watch pocket, the report stated.

chairman of the company, also spoke at the dedication and presided at the traditional ribbon-cutting, which marked the official opening of the plant.

He said that Salinas was selected as the site for the company's ninth tire plant in the United States because of its proximity to more than a dozen major markets and expressed hope that the plant will have an increasingly important economic influence on the community in the future.

Today's activities also included a meeting of Firestone's board of directors in Salinas. The meeting marked but the second time in four years that a board meeting was held away from the home offices of the company in Akron, Ohio. Raymond C. Firestone, president of the parent company, and Roger S. Firestone, president of Firestone Plastics and Firestone Synthetic Fibers Company—who both, like Leonard and Harvey Firestone, are sons of the founder of the company—attended the dedication and board meeting.

Others Named

Other company directors attending the dedication were Earl B. Hathaway, executive vice president; Elton H. Schulenberg, executive vice president; James E. Trainer, director; George F. Karch, president of the Cleveland Trust Company; and John F. Flobert, secretary and general counsel.

Firestone took an option on the 100-acre plant site near Spence underpass in December, 1962, and began construction of Monterey County's largest manufacturing plant in March, 1963. The first tire was produced just three months later.

The company also has two tire plants in Akron and others in Los Angeles, Des Moines, Iowa; Dayton, Ohio; Memphis, Tenn.; Pottstown, Pa.; and Decatur, Ill. It operates 21 tire plants in foreign countries.

Expansion Programs

Firestone has other major capital expenditure programs under way at its steel products plants in Quincy, Ill., and Spartanburg, S. C.; synthetic rubber plant in Orange, Tex.; resins plant in Pottstown, Pa.; synthetic fibers plant in Hopewell, Va.; and industrial products plant in Noblesville, Ind.

"The growth potential of the tire industry, both at home and abroad, offers a great opportunity for increased sales and profits," Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., said today. "We are preparing for these opportunities by expanding plants and modernizing production facilities to manufacture better products at lower prices with resulting higher profits."

Brown and the visiting guests were taken on a tour of the Firestone plant after the ribbon-cutting ceremony, followed by luncheon at the plant.

Natural Resources Unit Slates Monterey Hearings

Sen. Fred S. Farr, D-Carmel, chairman of the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Natural Resources, has scheduled public hearings of this committee for Sept. 24 and 25 in Monterey at the Community Room of the Monterey City Public Library.

Farr advised that the committee will receive a full presentation of the progress to date on the State Development Plan on Sept. 24, and on Sept. 25, the comprehensive inventory of public lands will be presented and state, federal and local public agencies will comment upon their respective current and projected land management policies and practices.

"Both of these hearing subjects are of vital importance to the people of California and the Legislature," said Farr, "for an objective analysis of the programs of all public agencies involved in land management. Many programs, such as the State Park, Beach, Recreation, and Historical Facilities Bond Act of 1964, are dependent upon the State Development Plan which is scheduled for completion in October, 1965. It is the committee's intention to review the progress of the plan and to analyze those portions which specifically affect the natural resources of the state."

'Angels'

Four Jailed For Assault On Girls

Monterey police, aided by other Peninsula and county law enforcement agencies, yesterday clipped the wings of Hell's Angels but not before members of the notorious motorcycle gang raped two Peninsula girls, aged 14 and 15.

The girls were assaulted on Marina Beach about 2 a.m. yesterday. One claimed she was attacked by at least 20 men, the other by 10 to 15.

Later the long-haired, black-jacketed Hell's Angels were ordered out of the Marina area by Sheriff Jack Davenport. At 1:20 p.m., Monterey Police Chief Frank Marinello walked into a pack of more than 120 of the riders at Nick's Place, a tavern at 2440 Del Monte Ave., Monterey, and told them to get out of the county.

Deadline

Marinello gave them a deadline of 3 o'clock.

At 10 minutes to 3, the motorcyclists pulled out, heading north on Highway 1.

Meanwhile, Chief Marinello mobilized the strongest concentration of lawmen ever assembled on the Peninsula. The force of about 85 officers in almost 30 patrol cars gathered on Del Monte avenue by the Naval Postgraduate School.

The officers had removed ties and put on leather jackets—ready for a fight. But a few minutes before 3, they received word that the Hell's Angels were leaving.

Marinello felt a show of force would be effective anyway and the heavily-armed police motorcade gave chase as far as Castroville.

Marinello estimated that 300 members of the Hell's Angels Club and hangers-on were on the Peninsula over the weekend.

The tough motorcyclists have converged on the Pen-gang were arrested in criminal assault charges. Lodged in county jail were men identified as Henry C. Ross, 23, of Oakland; Marvin W. Gilbert, 22, of Oakland; John T. Tracy, 24, of San Leandro and James T. Miles 28, of North Sacramento.

In addition to the two rape cases, Charles W. Hermanson Jr. of Fort Ord reported he was strong-armed of his wallet by members of the gang on Saturday night. He said he lost $17. There also were several incidents of fighting, some with Peninsula citizens, some among members of the gang.

Victims of the rape were a Negro girl of 15 and a Caucasian girl of 14. They had been to a party in Seaside with five Negro youths, about 19 and 20 years in age. After the party, they decided out of curiosity that they wanted to see the Hell's Angels and then drove to Nick's Place.

According to a sheriff's report, they were approached by a rider named "Shorty" who came up to them with an open beer can in each hand. He said the "Angels" were not a bad group, that it was the fault of police they had a bad name.

Invitation

He persuaded the youngsters to take him to a liquor store, then said that he would take them to a Hell's Angels party at Marina Beach.

According to the boys accompanying the rape victims, some members of the gang first told the Seaside youths to leave. Afterwards, however, gang members dragged the screaming girls to a place in the sand dunes where they stripped and assaulted them.

The five Seaside youths, helpless to prevent the attacks, got in their car and drove to Highway 1 where they reported the attacks to sheriff's deputies. Deputies went to the scene and found two large, screaming, burning tires on the highway.

Some of the Hell's Angels were seen at Nick's Place. They were the riders but not the spectators. He said "there were sometimes as many as 150 of our citizens down there. They had just come to get a look at the Hell's Angels. This got so bad that yesterday before we told the Hell's Angels to get out of town we first had to disperse the spectators."

came infamous as a result of a weekend of terror in Hollister in 1947. The "Angels" are a loosely-knit organization — banded largely by their fondness for high-powered motorcycles and their pleasure of "bugging" small communities.

In the wake of the violent weekend, State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) today sent the following telegram to Attorney General Tom Lynch:

"As chief law enforcement officer of California and in order to protect other California communities, I ask you to make a thorough investigation of the activities of the Hell's Angels motorcycle group. Members of this organization are believed to have participated in the mass rape of two local girls. It was necessary for all law enforcement agencies on the Monterey Peninsula to act in concert to escort this group from our area. Would appreciate immediate reply."

Lynch Will Begin Statewide Probe Of Hell's Angels

SAN FRANCISCO — UPI — Attorney General Thomas C. Lynch today began a statewide investigation of the Hell's Angels motorcycle group which was ordered out of Monterey County Sunday after two teen age girls were raped on a beach.

Lynch requested sheriffs and police chiefs to furnish full information concerning the cyclists group in their respective communities.

"Lynch seeks information on the organization and membership of the Hell's Angels, local and statewide, and their conduct in their local communities," a spokesman said. The attorney general acted at the request of state Senator Fred S. Farr (D) of Carmel.

Four of the some 250 black jacketed Angels were arrested as suspects in the mass rape of the girls early Sunday on a remote beach about 10 miles north of Monterey. The motorcyclists had set up camp near the beach.

One girl, 14, was assaulted 20 times, according to the police, and the other, 15, was raped eight times.

The four suspects, freed on $1,100 bail each, appeared today before Monterey Municipal Judge Eugene Harrah who set Monday at 9:30 AM for entry of plea to charges of rape.

The four were identified as Ceylon H. Cross, 23, Richmond; Marvin W. Gilbert, 22, Oakland; John T. Tracy, 24, San Leandro; and James T. Miles, 28, North Highlands, near Sacramento.

Angels Chief Says Girls Submitted Willingly

OAKLAND — AP — The alleged rape of the girls, aged 14 and 15, are Ceylon H. Cross, 23, of Richmond; Marvin W. Gilbert, 22, of Oakland; Tom Tracy, 24, of San Leandro, and the club's Monterey encampment submitted "voluntarily."

Tommy Thomas, president of the club's Oakland chapter, said:

"That rape charge against our four guys, that won't stick, and our guys will go free."

About 250 club members were ordered out of Monterey County Sunday after the girls said they were the victims of a mass rape on a beach.

Another result of the encampment was a request Tuesday by Attorney General Thomas C. Lynch for state law enforcement agencies to furnish information on the Hell's Angels.

This followed up a demand by State Senator Fred S. Farr of Carmel for a statewide probe of the motorcycle club.

The four members who were arrested as suspects in the California Acts Wisely In Hell's Angels Probe

By mounting a statewide investigation of the Hell's Angels motorcycle group State Attorney General Thomas C. Lynch has taken the proper step in dealing with this organization.

In the main Hell's Angels has a reputation for mobile rumbles, for treeing cities and towns and outrageously interfering in the most blatant, bully manner with the rights of others.

Its members often have insisted they are misunderstood and harassed. Many cities and towns have barred them. And what is the public to think after the conduct ascribed to Hell's Angels members in Monterey?

The cyclists went to that city just before Labor Day with the stated intention of raising funds among themselves to ship the body of club member Kenneth Beemer to his mother, who lives in San Diego.

The outstanding publicity garnered by the Hell's Angels, however, was the arrest of four of its members charged with the brutal rape of two girls. The Monterey authorities immediately ordered the Hell's Angels to move on so the group probably has added one more off limits community to its list.

The police of Monterey had been ordered to be on duty in force regardless of the holiday. It would appear their vigilance left something to be desired.

Banning towns and cities to the Hell's Angels is not the final answer to the problem. It is doubtful if it is even legal since American law is powerless to intervene unless an overt act has been committed.

Moreover, running Hell's Angels out of one city merely leaves them with their record of violence free to prey on another.

Sacramento's method has been effective insofar as the local community is concerned. Such a careful watch is kept on the cyclists that they have been held under control.

The best answer, however, is to conduct a statewide investigation and, if any crimes are found, to prosecute. The laws dealing with conspiracy should serve a useful purpose since it is highly unlikely that many disorderly acts were not planned or did not have the tacit approval, at least, of the motorcycle leaders.

Of course, many of the Hell's Angels are not criminals. But they have become a statewide problem and the best way to handle it is on the state level.

'Angels' in Court; State Quiz Promised on Club

Four members of the Hell's Angels motorcycle club appeared in Monterey Municipal Court today on rape charges arising out of a cruel orgy against two teen-aged Peninsula girls on Marina Beach early Sunday morning.

Entry of plea for each was continued until next Monday at 9:30. Each defendant told Judge Eugene Harrah that he had retained Oakland attorney Stanley Gold to defend him. Each man is free on bail of $1,100.

Meanwhile, State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) announced this morning that Atty. Gen. Tom Lynch has promised to launch an immediate investigation into

"I hope this will serve as a warning against any possible future gatherings of this nature."

Pacific Grove Mayor A. B. (Al) Wells also praised the mutual aid system employed by Marinello.

"The same thing which happened on Marina Beach could have happened on Asilomar Beach," he said. "Then we would have needed additional police support like that Monterey received from Pacific Grove and other surrounding communities."

Seaside Mayor Beauford T. (Andy) Anderson said: "It is unfortunate that we do have to have this type of worry hanging over our citizens. Perhaps proper legislation could be enacted to insure that this type of organization could be turned away from a city."

Acting Mayor Jim Bufington of Carmel — who is also the city's police commissioner — said:

"I feel it is preferable to keep this type element off the Peninsula entirely."

The Monterey Police Department today calculated the cost of policing the visit of the Angels to Monterey, including mutual aid costs at $1,236.29.

Of this, $385 was in the form of overtime to Monterey police and as such will be a direct bill to the taxpayers.

The four members of the motorcycle gang who appeared in court were John T. Tracy, 24, of San Leandro; James Truman Miles, 28, of North Sacramento; Marvin W. Gilbert, 22, of Oakland and Ceylon H. Cross, 23, of Richmond.

All were quite clean in appearance—to the amazement of officers and others who saw them over the weekend in Monterey. One of the Angels actually had shaved off his beard, a policeman said.

"Badge"

During the weekend visit, most of the Angels were extremely dirty, their faces covered with road grime which gave them a sooty appearance. They seemed to wear the grime as a badge of distinction.

Victims of the rape were girls aged 15 and 14 who went to the Hell's Angels beach party along with five youths, aged 20 and 19. At the beach, members of the gang held the youths at bay while the screaming girls were dragged over the sand dunes to a point where they were assaulted repeatedly.

This remark drew some of the loudest cheers from the union officials.

New Hampshire is running it."

There are persistent undertones of friction within the Republican camp in Monterey County involving the county central committee and Citizens for Goldwater-Miller.

At issue is fund - raising.

Central committee officers, or at least some of them, feel strongly that all GOP fund-raising should be coordinated through the central committee. And they contend that the Goldwater people are not playing the game, that instead they are conducting a separate drive and not reporting their take to the committee.

Final registration figures in Monterey County are not available yet. But on all hands, we hear that Democrats outregistered Republicans by about 3 to 1. One county GOP leader said that frankly he feels the ratio may even go as high as 80 per cent Democratic.

Although these figures point to a much higher Democratic advantage than in recent years, the results of intensive registration drives — such as was carried out on the Peninsula in the weeks prior to the Sept. 10 deadline—often are not too significant.

Many political experts feel that if you have to go out and get a person to register, it is unlikely that such a person will take enough interest to go to the polls.

Magyar, Farr
To Speak on Proposition 14

Stephen Magyar, who recently described himself as "a great promotor of discrimination," is scheduled to present his views Tuesday night to the Peninsula Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The Republican candidate for State Senate has agreed to discuss Proposition 14, the initiative on the Nov. 3 ballot which would nullify existing fair housing legislation and prevent any more from being passed.

Also scheduled to speak is the Democratic incumbent, Sen. Fred Farr of Carmel, who is opposed to Proposition 14.

The meeting, which is open to the public, is set for 8 p.m. in the community room of the Monterey Library.

Magyar, a Monterey businessman, told an Asilomar audience May 22 that "I am a promotor of discrimination because discrimination means freedom of choice."

Proposition 14 would prohibit the state from denying the right of property owners "to decline to sell, lease or rent property to such person or persons as he, in his absolute discretion, chooses."

One of the main casualties would be the Rumford Fair Housing Act, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, religion or national origin.

Carmel Senator's
Auto Is Target
For Gas Thief

An unidentified teen-age boy, armed with a length of garden hose and a can, attempted to tap the gas tank of an automobile belonging to State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) early this morning in Carmel.

The car was parked in front of the home of Fox Case at the corner of Crespi and Mountain View avenues.

Case attempted to put a stop to the nocturnal activity by informing the thief of the full implications of what he was doing. Case quoted the boy, who he said was 16 years old, as saying, "I didn't know it was Mr. Farr's car."

Then Case returned to his house to call the Carmel police.

He told them that the boy was driving a black car with no front bumper and a California license plate which began with the letters "CV" and the numeral seven.

When police arrived, however, all that was left of the boy was a five-foot piece of hose, dangling from Farr's gas tank, and a two-gallon gas can—full.

Senator Farr Speaks
On Legislative Issues;
Jack Patton Honored

State Sen. Fred Farr reviewed current legislative issues for Salinas Rotarians Tuesday. He covered revision of the State Constitution, several ballot propositions, the U.S. Supreme Court decision on state senate representation, and the bracero program.

Jack Patton, former managing editor of the Salinas Californian, was honored at the opening of the senator's talk. Farr presented Patton with a handsomely printed resolution passed by the State Senate during its recent session. The resolution recited the many accomplishments of Patton for the city of Salinas as an editor and civic-minded citizen.

Revision of the State Constitution is already under way, Farr told the Rotarians. A committee is meeting regularly and hopes to make a progress report to the legislature by the end of November. Many outstanding Californians are on the committee, Farr said.

In discussing the propositions, Farr urged a No vote on Proposition 14 and Proposition 16. Yes votes were asked for Propositions 1, 2 and 3.

If proposition 14 were enacted it would "tie the hands of the legislature for dealing with civil rights." He added it would also tie the hands of county and city governments. The proper way to change the present law, if this is wanted, would be to have a referendum, he said.

Proposition 16, which would authorize a lottery in California, would give the lottery operators some $65,000,000 a year, Farr estimated. He cited this proposition as an example of the type of law that should not be included in the cumbersome California Constitution.

Farr seemed somewhat pessimistic on the chances of California not coming under the Supreme Court decision regarding Senate representation. He pointed out that what the court requires would give full control of the Senate to Southern California.

It was pointed out by the senator that Californians have reaffirmed the present method of electing state senators in elections of 1926, 1927, 1948, 1960 and 1962.

The end of the bracero program will be "a great hardship" for California agriculture, the speaker said. He stated that he believes a phasing out over a longer period of time would be desirable.

The speaker was introduced by George Hobbs. President George Kuska presided.

Natural Resources
Session Set

Senator Fred S. Farr, Chairman of the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Natural Resources, has scheduled public hearings of this committee for September 24 and 25 in Monterey at the Community Room of the Monterey City Public Library.

Farr advised that the committee will receive a full presentation of the progress to date on the State Development Plan Thursday and Friday, the comprehensive inventory of public lands will be presented and State, Federal and local public agencies will comment upon their respective current and projected land management policies and practices.

Committee Formed Here To Oppose Proposition 14

Formation of a Salinas Committee Against Proposition 14 was announced Friday by committee chairman John Vanni. The committee is affiliated with Californians Against Proposition 14 and with the Monterey County Advisory Committee, headed by Richard Osborne, president of Del Monte Properties.

The committee will campaign locally against the constitutional amendment sponsored by the California Real Estate Association. Vanni characterized Proposition 14 as one "designed to legalize racial discrimination in housing and place the Real Estate Association above the state legislature in fair housing matters."

Other officers of the Salinas committee are Gerald Goren, vice chairman; Rod Wallace, treasurer; and Virginia Griffin, secretary.

Members of the steering committee include Rev. Arnold Hedlund, Walter A. Thompson, Rev. Emmet McDowell, Stanley Kallick, Dr. Edward J. Ryder, Father Humberto Hermoso, Rabbi Abraham Haselkorn, Henry Tanda, Harold Davis and Sally Gutierrez.

The committee is planning to open a Main Street headquarters soon.

Tract Turned Down; Supervisors Decide Airstrip's Too Close

SALINAS — Monterey County Supervisors Monday denied a special permit sought by Quail Creek Ranchos for a 121-unit subdivision on Encinal road 2½ miles southeast of here.

Major basis for the denial was the proximity of a crop dusting airstrip on adjacent land.

State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel), representing the developers, asked the matter be referred back to the County Planning Commission when supervisors indicated the airstrip would place homes in danger.

"I think we should let the Planning Commission hear some testimony from experts on airstrips," Farr said.

Supervisors would have none of it, however.

They were bombarded with comments on the danger of the operation for more than an hour.

Harry Nolan, Salinas attorney representing the airstrip owners, Attwood Crop Dusters, painted a grim picture.

"These planes are taking off with a heavy load of very, very poisonous insecticides and pesticides," he said.

"Our permit to operate carries a provision that our landing pattern and take-off lanes go directly over the area proposed for subdivision.

"A crash there could be disastrous, not only through damage done by the airplane itself but through possible injury from bursting crop dusting tanks."

Other opponents said the homes would be plagued by noise from planes, would cut up valuable agricultural land and increase enrollment at the nearby Chualar Elementary School by 55 per cent.

"It seems to me these airstrips are safe when someone wants to establish one but very dangerous when someone else wants to build near them," Farr said.

Farr Accepts Salinger Post

State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) has accepted the honorary chairmanship of the Monterey County campaign to return U.S. Sen. Pierre Salinger to the Senate on Nov. 3.

Farr, a member of the State Senate since 1955, is chairman of the Senate Natural Resources Committee. He is up for re-election on Nov. 3. His Republican opponent is Monterey Peninsula businessman Stephen G. Magyar.

Four Salinger-for-Senator co-chairmen in Santa Cruz County were also named today. They are Norman S. Lezin and Mrs. J. H. G. Stuart of Santa Cruz and Robert L. Bennett and Mrs. J. J. Crosetti of Watsonville.

Officials For Dinner Announced

James T. Hunter, general chairman of the Johnson-Salinger-Bolz dinner at the Hyatt House next Monday night, Oct. 5, honoring United States Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze, today announced the following dinner chairmen:

Mrs. Albina Cosco, past vice president of the California Italian-Catholic Federation, and Emilio Rossi, president of the Salinas Sons of Italy, as co-chairmen of the Italian-American Committee to welcome Celebrezze; Peter Cailotto and Jerry G. Cailotto as chairmen of the tickets committee; and Paul Johnson and Vaughn Parsons as co-chairmen of the finance committee.

Reservations for the 8 o'clock dinner may be made by telephoning 424-6983 or 424-1935 in Salinas. Dinner guests will hear major addresses by Celebrezze and by Democratic Congressional candidate Sanford Bolz. Among the honored guests will be State Sen. Fred Farr and Mrs. Jehanne Carlson, mother of United States Senator Pierre Salinger.

Board Denies Subdivision Appeal Today

Preservation of agriculture moved the Monterey County Board of Supervisors today to deny an appeal for a subdivision on Encinal Road.

The development, Quail Creek Rancho, near Chualar, is a proposed 121-home subdivision in the $18,000 to $21,000 bracket for people with medium income.

The planning commission turned down the subdivision request July 28 after hearing a debate over the use of the land.

Opponents to the subdivision stood in favor of continuing exclusive agricultural use of the land in the area, although the present owner of the land—Earl Albertson—said it was not good for farming.

The 121-acre site is virtually surrounded by land owners in opposition to the plan.

It was also pointed out by opponents there would be a potential hazard in the Atwood Crop Dusters airstrip which immediately adjoins the proposed subdivision site.

Speaking in favor of the subdivision was State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel), who appeared as the proponent's attorney.

Farr said the subdivision would mean an increase of about 151 students to the Chualar School District. (Opponents, represented by William Bryan, said this was an increase of 55 per cent.)

Farr said many of the opponents did not live in the area (Bryan presented a map showing most of the opponents did live in the area.)

Farr said no homes would be constructed under the flight pattern of Atwood. (Atwood attorney and officer Harry Nolan said the planes could not keep to a strict flight pattern.)

In conclusion Farr said "it's a matter of time before the area will eventually be subdivided."

Ned Ryder, one of the developers of the project, stated the subdivision was designed to be compatible with surrounding farming by virtue of large lots and rural atmosphere.

Supervisor Harold Henry summed up the apparent feelings of many when he stated:

"You couldn't give me a home out there if there is a crop duster flying around." He said the noise of crop dusters was "ear splitting," and "you don't know what it is until you've lived through it."

Mexican Group Meets Saturday On Candidates

Mexican-American Political Association (MAPA) chapters from Monterey, San Benito and Santa Cruz counties meet Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock in Salinas to endorse candidates for the Nov. 3 general election.

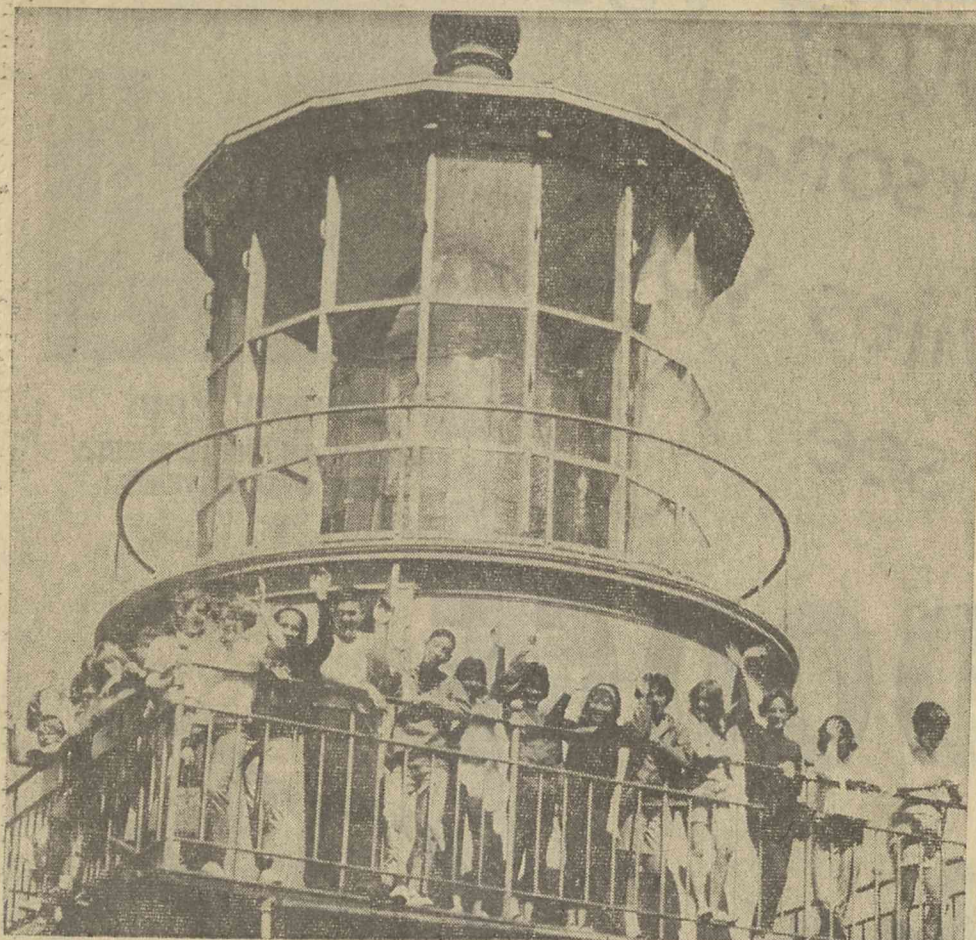

The meeting will be held in the conference room of the Salinas Valley Savings and Loan building.

MAPA has extended invitations to Congressman Burt L. Talcott, State Sen. Fred S. Farr, Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee, Congressional candidate Sanford Bolz, State Senate candidate Stephen G. Magyar and Assembly candidate Irby E. Bourriague to attend the meeting. The public is also invited to attend.

Big, Bright Hello

Waving from the walkway atop the Point Sur lighthouse are some of the 35 science students who spent last Saturday on a field trip down the Big Sur coast as part of a gifted children's class on natural resources. They stopped to inspect the big light, toured Point Lobos and the Big Creek area, and visited with photographer Ansel Adams at his home. The group was accompanied by a naturalist from the Division of Beaches and Parks.

Time for Lunch

Even naturalists get hungry. When Monterey area science students toured the coastal area Saturday, they stopped for lunch at the Big Creek Ranch and enjoyed the outdoors as much as the fare. The trip was arranged in cooperation with State Sen. Fred S. Farr (D-Carmel), who spoke to the group's summer class.

Farr Group to Meet In Monterey

The State Senate Committee on Natural Resources, headed by Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) will open two days of hearings tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. in the Monterey Public Library.

Tomorrow's session will be devoted to a presentation by the state planning department of a master plan for state development. The plan will include recommendations of local planning commissions throughout the state and will include studies into water resources, highways, state institutions, etc.

On Friday, the committee will open study into the ownership of public land — federal, state, county, city, etc.—in the State of California. Farr said today this will be the most comprehensive study ever made of public land holdings. Special attention will be given to those lands which might be considered surplus.

State Planning Progress Told

9-24-64

By EARL HOFELDT

The importance of coordinated planning programs on all levels of government was stressed today as State Sen. Fred Farr's Senate Fact-finding Committee on Natural Resources opened a two-day hearing in the Monterey Library.

Today's session was devoted to a progress report on the $2.85 million state development plan — with a key portion of the presentation made by consultant Harold Wise who also is involved as a planner in Monterey's urban renewal program.

Tomorrow, the committee will open a comprehensive study into the ownership of public lands in California.

Farr, of Carmel, is committee chairman. Sitting with him today were Senators Paul Lunardi of Roseville and Eugene G. Nisbet of Upland. A fourth comity director for the State Department of Finance (which embraces the state planning office) said that in time to come it will become more and more important to find ways of making information more readily available to speed up the coordination of planning activities.

Wise said the economy is especially sensitive to federal expenditures in defense and aero-space programs.

Unemployment

He added that California, despite its growth and importance, faces a continuing unemployment problem which may extend over several years.

Farr asked Wise if his studies to date could give any insight as to the effect of the elimination of the "bracero" program upon farm economy in Monterey County and California.

Wise said that detail of this kind would be available later. "It is not plugged in yet."

Library Flooded By Finny Ghosts

By EARL HOFELDT

The ghosts of several million anchovies swam through a meeting of the California State Senate Fact-finding Committee on Natural Resources yesterday.

State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel), during the meeting in the Monterey Public Library, recalled his unsuccessful efforts to persuade the State Department of Fish and Game to allow the taking of a limited number of anchovies off the Monterey Bay coast for reduction purposes.

A week ago, he said, tons and tons of dead anchovies washed up in Santa Cruz Harbor and a canner in the area wasn't allowed to reduce these because of rulings of the department.

Too Quick

Laying into Robert L. Jones, leader of the Delta Fish and Wildlife Study of the department, Farr said that boards and commissions are too quick to rely on the opinions of their staff officers.

Jones appeared as a witness as Farr's committee received testimony into progress on a state development plan—intended to guide California's future development of natural resources, beaches and parks, highways, general economics and many other fields.

Scolding the fish and game department, Farr said that a great deal of evidence had been put together by marine biologists to show that anchovies could be harvested without harming the resource. Yet, he said, everytime an application for anchovy reduction is presented, "We are turned down."

Little Time

When Jones said that this is the type of question the department needs to study, Farr snapped, "How long can we wait? We have only two canneries left (in Monterey). In four or five years there will be no more canneries."

Farr blamed the staff for the action of the agency.

"It is my opinion, by and large, that boards and commissions rely on the staffs which serve them," he said.

Hugo Fisher, administrator of the state resources agency, came to Jones' defense. He implied that Farr's attack on a staff member was improper because boards and commissions "are the creatures of the legislature."

Fisher said that many agencies, such as his, are shackled by the legisla-

League of Women Voters Sets Candidates Night Oct. 26

The League of Women Voters will hold its traditional "Candidates Night" at the Monterey USO on the night of Monday, Oct. 26, at 8 o'clock.

Eight candidates for four offices have been invited to appear, make talks and answer questions.

The candidates are Republican Burt L. Talcott and Democrat Sanford H. Bolz for the 12th District Congress; Republican Stephen G. Magyar and Democrat Fred Farr for State Senate; Republican Alan G. Pattee and Democrat Irby E. Bourriague for Assembly and Beauford T. Anderson and Gerald A. McGrath for supervisor of the new 4th District.

U. S.-Mexican Group Endorses Area Democrats

SALINAS—The Mexican-American Political Assn. of Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito counties has endorsed all Democrats for local-level partisan races in the Nov. 3 election.

In an endorsing meeting they favored Irby E. Bourriague over Republican incumbent Alan G. Pattee for State Assembly; incumbent Fred Farr over GOP challenger Stephen G. Magyar for State Senate and Sanford H. Bolz over Republican incumbent Burt L. Talcott for Congress.

MAPA soon will open a Salinas office to coordinate support among Mexican-Americans for the endorsed candidates and to mount opposition to Proposition 14 — the Rumford Act repealer.

Senator Fred Farr's Oceanography Plank

The platform of the Democratic Party, adopted at the National Convention in Atlantic City, contains a plank authored by Senator Fred Farr (D-Carmel).

Under the heading, "The Nation's Natural Resources," the Democrats pledge to "unlock the resources of the sea through a strong oceanography program."

"I was delighted when the National Convention adopted this plank," says Senator Farr. "The sea is a region of our environment about which we know very little; its resources are literally untapped. This is the first time a major political party has pledged itself to the development of a strong oceanography program."

Marina, Monterey School Redistricting

Unification Bid Goes to State Board

Representatives of the Marina and Monterey school districts go before the State Board of Education Saturday in San Francisco to plead for the right to try for separated unified districts.

They go armed with a recommendation for the plan from the County Committee on School District Organization, but they face a recommendation against the plan from the State Department of Education.

They also face what has been called "hard-nosed adherence to the law" by the state board in the flurry of unification plans submitted to it since July.

Separate Districts

The proposal before the state board Saturday is for a unified Marina district from kindergarten through 12th grade and a similar separate unified district contiguous with the boundaries of the present Monterey City School District.

A "unified" school district is one in which both elementary and high schools operate within the same boundary and under the same administration. Marina operates its own elementary schools but is a part of the Monterey Union High School District.

Monterey, although with a single administration, technically operates separate elementary and high school districts, with separate though overlapping boards of trustees.

Money

Monterey has long sought to unify its two districts to eliminate the cumbersome bookkeeping involved. Under provisions of the Unruh school finance reform bill (AB145) there now is a further impelling motivation toward unification — $15 per student or roughly $200,000 for Monterey.

Earlier this year Monterey agreed with a county committee recommendation that it unify within the present high school district, absorbing Marina. This was rejected by the state board, and Monterey trustees are equally willing to unify along elementary district boundaries, excluding Marina.

Their stand is, "unification any way, but unification."

Local Control

Marina however has held firmly to its purpose of achieving school independence. The board, vociferously supported by the citizenry, has continually worked to stave off absorption by Monterey and resultant loss of its "local control."

Riding the crest of a population boom, Marina now is in a position to meet the requirement of "at least 2,000 students" for a separate district from kindergarten through high school.

But it is up against the state board's "tough" approach to guidelines for setting up new districts—among which is one that says no high school district can be split into two or more unified districts unless "exceptional circumstances" are clearly shown.

The hearing is scheduled at 9 a.m. Saturday in Room 1194 of the State Building Annex, 455 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco.

Should the unification plans be approved by the state board they would be submitted to voters in the Monterey and Marina districts and would require a majority vote in the combined areas to pass.

Should the plans be disapproved, the matter presumably would be referred back to the county committee for further study.

Fires in State Topic of Hearing In Santa Barbara

State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) has called a meeting of the Senate Committee on Natural Resources for 10 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 15 in the board of supervisors chambers in Santa Barbara.

The hearing has been called to receive a critique on recent forest and brush fires in California, including a Santa Barbara County fire which swept 78,000 acres and caused about $4 million damage.

Farr said the committee wants to learn if all measures had been taken to impede the spread of the Santa Barbara fire and to see if steps can be taken to reduce the possibility of such fires in the future.

Marina Proposal Rejected

SAN FRANCISCO — With praise for the best presentation of a case but condemnation for the "worst plan ever" of school district organization. The state's board of education this noon turned down Marina's bid for a separate school district.

After hearing nearly three hours of testimony from Marina spokesmen—including State Sen. Fred Farr—the state board unanimously voted down the recommendation that the Monterey and Marina school districts be divided into separate unified districts.

State Park Commissioner Tells Need for Prop. 1 Bonds

Monterey Peninsula Herald

Thursday, Oct. 8, 1964. 23

(The following story was written by Margaret Owings of Big Sur, a member of the State Park Commission.)

By MARGARET OWINGS

State parks are a preservation of our rightful heritage. Yet this heritage will soon be reduced to islands accentuated by the surrounding urban expansion. The beaches, the forests and the rolling hills along our Monterey Coast can be preserved for public open space, for appreciation and recreation only through public ownership in the form of parks. Once established, these parks will increase in value as the present quantity of untouched scenic and recreational areas disappear.

The park bond to be voted upon this November illustrates foresight and action. Only through this means can we acquire more of the delicate fragile character of our coastal area for ourselves, our children and our visitors.

Supervisor Tom Hudson has been heard to say that he does not favor more parks in his district because they will bring more visitors. Yet, with a state's population increasing 500,000 each year and with the state constructing broad fast freeways to accelerate travel and with a larger portion of our citizens enjoying more leisure than ever before, we cannot stem the tide at our county line. Now, leisure can be profitable, healthy and enriching—but it must be provided for. We must direct the recreation of these visitors or both they and we will suffer.

We will be faced with wholesale trespassing on private lands. We will be faced with camping trailers lining our roads. Carmel will be faced with an overcrowded doorstep and there will be no place else for these people from the hot inland valleys and the overcrowded cities to go.

"Monterey Pines" is one area under consideration for acquisition under the bond act. This area, reached easily from both Carmel and Monterey, will not only safeguard open space but will offer camping and picnicking facilities as well as hiking and horseback trails.

An enlargement of the Del Monte Beach in Monterey is another listed acquisition which will relieve the increasing pressures on the Carmel beaches.

A five-fold increase of the Big Sur State Park will multiply many times its present capacity for camping and recreational use.

This past summer, the number of people turned away from state parks equalled the number accommodated. In the decade between 1950 and '60, park attendance increased 359 per cent, reaching a total of 25 million persons per year; yet during this period park areas were enlarged but 19 per cent. This attendance does not include visitor use at the state beaches in Los Angeles County. The addition of these beaches brings the attendance totals at state parks up to 75 million for the year 1963.

Crowded Southland

The crowded beaches in Southern California are an indication of a situation Carmel may well be faced with unless the state can acquire more beaches for public use. There are some 1,000 miles of coast in California but only 150 miles are owned by the state.

Proposition 1 offers us the opportunity to vote for a $150 million bond to acquire these needed parks and beaches. Out of this amount, $85 million will be turned directly toward acquisition throughout the state, $20 million will be used for the development of public facilities in parks, $5 million will be applied to wildlife conservation, and $40 million will be divided county-wise for local grants in the vicinity of population centers. Monterey County will receive $16,500 from this last category as well as a generous share from the total acquisition fund.

It has been pointed out that parks will take lands off the tax rolls. This is true and bears analysis.

There is a natural law which dictates that as the population increases, the available open space for its use must increase with it. No one will deny that we in Monterey County are experiencing a population explosion of which a large percentage is represented by tourists. From an economic point of view, Carmel and Monterey have already illustrated their reliance on tourists as a substantial portion of the economy of the area. Motels and restaurants, golf tournaments and programs for music and the arts are each a sign of this.

It follows that we must provide commensurate open space to accommodate these people. Open space available for recreation can be obtained solely through taking lands off the tax rolls for public parks. These parks become an essential part of the economy of the community. They not only will increase the value of peripheral lands but will build up revenue for business enterprises.

As a member of the State Park Commission, looking at the state as a whole, I am fully aware that the measure of man's stature today rests with his willingness to preserve beautiful portions of our land. The expedient dollar of the moment is superficial by comparison. If we have visions, let us cherish them. It is not often that a generation is challenged as we are today, and has the means to accomplish it.

County School Plan Stymied

Half of Monterey County's master plan for unification of its school districts has been sent back to the drawing boards.

Of the areas proposed for unification only the Gonzales and King City plans were approved Saturday by the State Board of Education in San Francisco. A second-try plan for splitting the Monterey and Marina districts was rejected and the Salinas unification plan was held in abeyance until the Marina question is settled.

No change is proposed for Carmel and Pacific Grove, the only districts in the county already unified.

Long Session

The state board listened long and critically to Marina's plea for a separate school district Saturday morning, during which five other districting matters and several other items of state board business were on the agenda.

At the end of the three-hour Marina hearing, the board obviously was impressed with the dedication to their schools of the Marina residents and with the ability of their spokesman, assistant Marina superintendent Marshal Keating.

Board Chairman Thomas Braden called it "the best presentation of a case the board has ever heard."

But he sided with board members Dorman Commons and William Norris, who had called it "the worst proposal ever presented for school district organization."

The gist of the board's objection to the plan was that it did nothing to improve upon a previously-rejected proposal to unify Monterey and Marina districts together, which Commons said was merely "unifying poverty" because of the relatively low assessed wealth per pupil in both districts.

No Split

State board members also pointed out that under the newly-enacted Unruh bill (AB 145) an existing high school district (such as the Monterey Union High School District which includes Marina) can be divided into separate districts only in "exceptional circumstances." Since the bill was enacted, no such split has been approved by the board.

The board said solidity of community sentiment did not represent exceptional circumstances. "We can not legally approve this proposal," Braden said.

Previously the board had suggested that the Monterey County Committee on School District Organization study forming a single unified district out of Carmel, Pacific Grove, Monterey and Marina. This was posed as a means of spreading the higher assessed wealth of Carmel over the other, "poorer" districts of the Peninsula.

The committee's study turned up blank-wall opposition to this plan from Carmel and Pacific Grove

Sen. Pierre Salinger will be on the Monterey Peninsula College campus Friday morning to address students, faculty and staff at the request of Jack Leach, political science instructor.

The campaigning Democrat will speak in the library lecture hall at 10 a.m. on "Issues of the 1964 Campaign."

On the same day, Robert Tuttle, who was a delegate to the 1964 National Democratic Convention, will speak at MPC at 2 p.m., to be followed by Paul McKinstry, Republican Convention delegate, at 3 o'clock.

State Sen. Fred Farr and his Republican opponent, Stephen G. Magyar, will be at MPC Friday, Oct. 23, at 2 and 3 p.m., respectively. Irby Bourriague, Democratic candidate for the State Assembly, will speak at 2 p.m. Friday, Oct. 30, to be followed by a Young Republicans-Young Democrats debate at 3 p.m. Assemblyman Alan Pattee will appear on a date still to be announced.

representatives, who submitted figures to show that this merely would raise everybody's tax rates. Further County Supt. Ed Coffin said committee members decided a section of the Unruh bill indicated that existing unified districts could not be changed.

To this latter point, Ronald Cox, the State Department of Education's authority on finance who assisted in drafting the bill for the legislature, said this did not apply to drafting of the county-wide master plan. He said the "shelter" to existing districts only applied after the master plan had been rejected by the voters. Monterey County's plan still has not been voted upon.

Moss Landing

In looking at the dilemma faced by Marina, the state board suggested consideration might be given to some redrawing of district boundaries to link it with the present North County Union School District which includes a major source of tax wealth in the county, the PG&E steam plant and the Kaiser refractory at Moss Landing. North County is proposed in the master plan as a part of a Salinas unified district.

The board held up approval of the Salinas portion of the plan to give the county committee a chance to look at the idea, although Coffin assured the board that the committee already had considered and rejected the possibility.

The state board was firm, however, in its stand that Marina, despite its future population potential, was too small at present and too "poor" for the foreseeable future to properly conduct its own high school program.

Sympathy

While the board showed sympathy with the desire of the Marina residents to plot their own school destiny and to have the latest and the best in educational programs and facilities, it felt the community would not for many years be of sufficient size to afford the many special services, facilities and staff members which modern high schools should have.

Marina was told its best hope to achieve what it wants in a high school program is as part of a larger district, which because of its size, can provide these facilities.

Board member Mrs. Talcott Bates of Monterey, suggested that if Marina were tied to the Monterey district, the Monterey board could well look to the keen interest and enthusiasm of Marina residents for inspiration and guidance toward development of the district program.

REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE OF CALIFORNIA

October 14, 1964

To the Republicans of Monterey County:

We are fortunate to have Steve Magyar as a candidate for State Senate in Monterey County. Steve Magyar's magnificent showing in the June primary this year is a tribute to his long community service, his personality and ability to do a good job.

I feel strongly that we must win this seat in the Senate from the incumbent in order to augment the Party and the efforts of your Assemblyman, Alan Pattee. Alan needs a working Republican partner in Sacramento to assist his fine work.

The Republican State Central Committee of California is extremely proud to have Steve Magyar as a candidate for State Senate. He will certainly upgrade the office. I urge each of you to give him your complete and whole-hearted support in this race.

With the greatest admiration.

Magyar Vows to Break Up 'Team of Brown-Farr'

By ERIC BRAZIL

CARMEL VALLEY — Republican state senatorial candidate Stephen G. Magyar predicted victory on Nov. 3 here Saturday night and vowed to "break up the team of Brown and Farr."

Magyar, who can fire off political wisecracks with any politician now on the stump, addressed 100 persons at a $12.50-per-plate testimonial dinner at Carmel Valley Inn.

"You couldn't have timed this dinner better," he said. "About this time a candidate really needs a shot in the arm, because he's been shot every place else."

"Now It's Perpendicular"

"In fact," Magyar said, "I have been roasted, toasted and basted so much that I feel like a Thanksgiving turkey." When the campaign began, he said, he knew it was going to be an uphill fight, "but now it's perpendicular," because Democratic voter registration has increased substantially since the primary election.

"I am running against a very personable man, and I am spotting him nine years experience, 6,000 votes and a lot of newspaper backing. Other than that, it's all even," Magyar said. After all, he said, "a guy who has no newspapers, big politicians, Teamsters, labor unions and so forth going for him can't be all bad."

Magyar reiterated his contention that "it's more important to be in step with Monterey County than with Gov. Pat Brown" and said that Sen. Farr is, in fact, the governor's yes man. "I believe in the two party system," Magyar said. "I don't believe that you have to say 'yes, Pat' ", because such yea-saying would lead to "Pat government . . . benevolent dictatorship."

Recalling that Democratic Sen. Joseph Rattigan of Sonoma County, campaigning for Sen. Farr in Greenfield recently, said that he didn't know the name of Farr's opponent and doubted that he'd ever know it, Magyar said: "On Nov. 4 I'm going to go up there and say, surprise, Joe, I'm Steve Magyar."

Backs Prop. 14

Magyar scored the opponents of Proposition 14 and defended his support of it.

"I spent 5½ years in the military fighting to protect my right to discriminate, and I am still battling for it in civilian life," he said. "I built my life around discrimination. I discriminate every morning when I pick my brand of toothpaste. I have always shaved with a Gillette razor, and I've never been picketed by the Shick people."

Magyar said he was "insulted that Pat Brown and his cohorts don't think I have enough Christian decency to do what's right," and that he "resents" and is "sick and tired of" the anti-Proposition 14 efforts of the clergy. "If the clergy had worked as hard in their pulpits as they are for no on Proposition 14, we wouldn't have the need for the Rumford Act," he said. Magyar said that, as an elder in the Presbyterian church, he is well aware of his "Christian duty."

Criticizes Farr

Magyar also criticized Farr for writing — and publicizing — telegrams to Sen. Pierre Salinger on the Ft. Ord meningitis problem and to Atty. Gen. Thomas Lynch on the invasion of the Monterey Peninsula by Hells Angels. He said that both telegrams were not only useless, but motivated by blatantly political concerns. "How ridiculous can you get in practical politics?" he asked.

Other Magyar comments:

— "It's being said that I'm sponsored by a bunch of kooks. Let me say that I've got the greatest bunch of kooks you'll ever find on the Monterey Peninsula."

— On the John Birch Society: "I had lunch with Mr. Robert Welch once, and he's a real nice candymaker . . . He paid for the lunch and we haven't seen each other since. I once had lunch with Gypsy Rose Lee, and I'm not a stripper."

— Although he has received three campaign donations of $1,250 (from Robert E. Littlefield, Robert E. Bowen and John Logan), the record of his campaign funds is open to public scrutiny, for "I'm owned by thousands of little people."

— "I've changed my name to Avis Magyar. We're second, so we've got to try a little harder."

— "Everybody likes to ride a winner, so I'll expect some of the rights and privileges of an incumbent the next time I run."

— "Farr has been riding (Republican Assemblyman Alan G.) Pattee's coattails all these years."

— "I'm not going to be a letter-writing senator. If you want something like that, join the Hallmark card-of-the-month club."

— "It's just me and you . . . and there aren't many of us. Call five (prospective voters) and tell 'em that Avis Magyar needs help."

The American Association of University Women, Salinas branch, and the League of Women Voters of Salinas will co-sponsor a candidates' night on Tuesday, Oct. 27.

Candidates for Congress, State Senate, Assembly and county supervisor are expected to attend the event, which will be held at the multi-purpose room at Washington Junior High School.

The public is invited to attend the candidates' night, which begins at 8 p. m. and at which the candidates will not only air their views, but answer questions from the floor.

A candidates night sponsored by the League of Women Voters of the Monterey Peninsula is scheduled for Oct. 26 at 8 p. m. at the USO in Monterey. The format and the participants are the same as those anticipated for Salinas on the following night.

The League of Women Voters of San Luis Obispo County is holding its candidates' night this Thursday, Oct. 15. Both Congressman Burt L. Talcott (R-Salinas) and his Democratic opponent Sanford Bolz have indicated that they'll attend it, according to League president Mrs. Ruth Wirship.

State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) has received the endorsement of the Allied Health Professions in his current campaign for re-election. The senator was recognized for his "impressive record of support for legislation furthering the ethical health care of the people of California" and "the maintaining of high professional standards."

Allied Health Professions includes representatives of the California Medical Association, California State Dental Association, Southern California State Dental Association, California Hospital Association, California Nurses Association, California Pharmaceutical Association, California Association of Dispensing Opticians, California Podiatry Association, California Veterinary Medical Association, California chapters of the American Physical Therapy Association and the Public Health League of California.

Monterey County Young Republicans last week adopted a resolution calling for an extension of Public Law 78, the bracero program, and commending Republican Presidential candidate Sen. Barry Goldwater for his support of the program.

YR President Kirke Erskine announced that state Young Republican President John Gromola of Fortuna will be the guest speaker at the general membership meeting on Oct. 19 in Salinas.

The candidacy of Dr. Richard Miller of Pacific Grove for the Democratic Congressional nomination in the 12th District in the June 2 primary election, is the subject of an article in the October issue of The Progressive magazine.

Larry D. Spence, a former reporter for the Monterey Peninsula Herald, is the author of the article. His thesis is that Dr. Miller's surprisingly strong showing in the primary "proved the voters are not as cowardly, stupid, or so incredibly naive as the professionals think. He showed that it takes personal courage and commitment to take ideas beyond the security of the campus and challenge the public relations image of the American public."

Without spending a penny for advertising in any of the traditional media, Dr. Miller, who is a professor at the College of the San Francisco Art Institute, rolled up 22,056 votes in the four-county Congressional district, missing the Democratic nomination by just 1,541 votes.

Magyar Slates Greenfield Talk; Prop. 14 Rapped

Republican state senatorial candidate Stephen G. Magyar of Pacific Grove will carry his campaign to southern Monterey County on Wednesday evening, Oct. 21. Magyar is scheduled to speak at 8 o'clock at Greenfield Memorial Hall and to answer questions put to him from the floor following his address. His appearance is being sponsored by the Citizens for Magyar Committee.

Congressman Burt L. Talcott (R-Salinas) last week won the editorial endorsement of the Hollister Free Lance and the San Juan Bautista Mission News for re-election.

The Monterey County elections department continues to receive a steady flow of applications for absentee ballots from registered voters who will either be out of town or unable to make it to their polling places on Nov. 3. Latest count is 2,941 applications — a record.

Speaking to the Filipino-American Civic League last weekend, Dr. Edward J. Ryder of the Salinas Committee Against Proposition 14 said that "Proposition 14 is a demand for the legal right to discriminate." He also said that "many people, unfortunately, practice discrimination against others, but we consider this to be wrong and unjust. Sometimes we find it necessary to pass laws to help prevent it. The Rumford Act is an example. Now the proponents of Proposition 14 want us to turn time backwards. They want the unprecedented right to discriminate by law."

The Citizens Committee for Yes on Proposition 2, headquartered in Garden Grove, reports that the average cost per person per year to pay off the $380 million bond issue—to provide funds for major building construction, equipment and site acquisition by the University of California and the state and junior colleges—will be 80 cents. Monterey County's allocation of bond revenue, if Proposition 2 passes, figures out at $365,000.

Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee moves his campaign into Santa Cruz county on Oct. 19 at a "Valley Rally" at Brookdale Lodge. The rally begins at 7 p.m. with a no-host cocktail party. A buffet supper and dancing until midnight will follow.

Pattee today took issue with the prediction of Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post that the statewide, privately operated lottery which would be authorized by passage of Proposition 16 could yield as little as $15.5 million a year for education in California. Pattee said that "the true picture is that New Hampshire, with an adult population of 373,000, raised $5.7 million in five months. Projected to a year this is $13.3 million. California, with 10,000,000 adults — 27 times larger than the little New England state—would certainly raise $359,100,000."

Republican State Senatorial candidate Stephen G. Magyar of Pacific Grove threw a bucket of cold water on a hot political rumor this morning. The rumor was that Magyar had effectively tossed in the sponge in his race against incumbent State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) and wasn't accepting any more contributions for his campaign. "Good grief NO!" Magyar said. "We're running as hard as ever," and in fact "we're rushing around to get more dough. I've been wearing out a lot of shoe leather and doing a lot of handshaking so far, and we're going to accelerate the campaign."

Magyar figures he has an uphill fight to unseat Farr, but he's not a whit discouraged, for "after all, Fred only has a 63 per cent edge on me."

Fred Farr

Early Seaside Lawyer

One of Seaside's earliest and most successful lawyers was our State Senator Fred Farr. Senator Farr established his Seaside law practice in 1948 and soon gained national attention for suits against the Federal government.

One of these was the famous test case which gained the right to vote for persons residing on a military reservation. It was in 1952 that Senator Farr, representing ten Monterey County servicemen, filed the suit that became the first in the history of the United States extending the franchise to servicemen living on Federal property. It was later selected by American Law Reports as one of the most significant decisions of the year.

Another landmark case was that of David and Jerry Edgman. Two Seaside boys, aged 9 and 11, who entered Fort Ord on Easter Sunday of 1949, picked up a bazooka shell to take home as a souvenir and then dropped it. The shell exploded. David lost both legs; Jerry's skull was fractured and he lost three fingers. Senator Farr represented the Edgmans in their suit and obtained a verdict of $185,000, at that time the largest judgment ever received in a negligence suit against the Federal government.

While practicing law in Seaside, Fred Farr served as a Director of the Seaside Chamber of Commerce and was a charter member and director of the Seaside Rotary Club. He is today an honorary member of the Seaside Rotarv.

Senator Fred Farr Invited to Speak By Association

Senator Fred Farr will be present Friday evening for the meeting of Arroyo Seco Citizens Committee at 7:30 p.m. in Miller's Lodge. The senator will be present for dinner at 6:30 and will also talk to those who wish to join him.

On the committee to serve refreshments after the meeting are Mrs. Tommy Eads, Mrs. Roscoe Hamilton, Mrs. Clark Gregory, Mrs. Jim Giacomazzi and Mrs. Steve Rianda. The meeting will be held at Miller's Lodge.

Other items on the agenda were plans for an Old Timers barbecue or potluck dinner in the near future. The Association is very much interested in sponsoring this event in order to obtain history that would be available from people who were born here or have lived in this area.

A discussion was also held in regard to the TV reception in the Arroyo Seco fringe area that has not proved to be too successful.

The situation of the dam site was brought up again in a general discussion among the members. No action was planned for the time being.

The group also discussed the possibility of obtaining a used fire truck to protect homes in the Arroyo Seco area during the dry season especially when the Forestry trucks are out on call.

The next regular meeting will convene Monday, Nov. 2 at 7 p.m.

Steve Magyar Will Speak In Greenfield

Stephen G. Magyar, candidate for the state senate, will address a public meeting at the Greenfield Memorial hall Wednesday, Oct. 21. The meeting which is scheduled for 8 p.m. is being sponsored by a Citizens for Magyar Committee.

The candidate is a building contractor and has been a resident of Monterey County for 21 years. His community activities include: Kiwanis Club president, Monterey Peninsula Builders Exchange president, member of the Monterey County Juvenile Commission, active in youth guidance work, member of the American Legion, member of the Commonwealth Club, and former member of the Monterey County Grand Jury.

Calling attention to the incumbent's "record of representing Sacramento in Monterey County rather than Monterey County in Sacramento," Magyar states he will place the issues in focus and clearly state his position. A question and answer period is scheduled to follow the speech.

'Orderly Transition Backs Policy' - Pierre

By ERIC BRAZIL

MONTEREY—Sen. Pierre Salinger said here today that the apparent orderly transfer of power in the Soviet Union out of the hands of Nikita Khrushchev "demonstrates the correctness" of American foreign policy.

The chubby former Presidential press secretary, who was appointed to the Senate 10 weeks ago, addressed 250 of his Democratic supporters at a breakfast at Casa Munras.

"When I spoke with him two years ago, Premier Khrushchev told me that he was getting old and was thinking of stepping down," Salinger said. "It is not clear whether his stepping down was voluntary, but there are some indications that it was."

If this be the case, Salinger said, it "demonstrates the correctness" of American foreign policy, "because an orderly transition of power is not common in the Soviet Union."

Bipartisan Policy

What an orderly transition of power in the Soviet Union should mean to politicians generally, Salinger said, is that "it's time to return to a bipartisan foreign policy." Politicians, especially during an election year, have an "obligation for restraint" in the discussion of foreign policy, he said.

Salinger said that "the time has come for an end to such statements" as those recently made by Republican Presidential candidate Sen. Barry Goldwater, who labeled the Democratic leadership "fascist," and by former Vice President Richard Nixon, who said that President Johnson is "soft on communism."

The Democratic Senator dwelt for the greater portion of his speech on the political shortcomings of his Republican adversary George Murphy. He told the Californians that he was not planning to visit Ft. Ord on his county campaign swing and offered no comment on the post meningitis problem. (Salinger last weekend announced the suspension of recruit input at Ft. Ord, a move designed to curb the spread of meningitis.)

Gains Poise

Salinger, who has gained noticeably in platform poise since his pre-primary campaign in Monterey County, said that "for a long time I believed that my opponent was a phantom . . . And after confronting him on television, I know that there is no George Murphy."

He scoffed at Murphy's repeated charge that he is a political slipped the "carpetbagger" label on him—"are those that make me capable of being senator." Murphy has no comparable experience, he said.

Responding to Murphy's allegation that California's position with respect to government defense and space contracts has deteriorated of late, Salinger said that the state now has "eight times as much in space appropriations and more in defense appropriations" than it had during the last year of the Eisenhower administration. "California has yet to lose a contract for any reason other than merit," he said, and challenged Murphy "to name one contract that has been lost for political reasons . . . He can't name one."

On Farm Labor

Salinger said flatly that "Public Law 78 (the bracero program) will not be re-enacted" and that California agriculturists "must work to get a decent supply of domestic labor." He said he personally doubted that growers would be able to obtain a domestic labor supply sufficient to harvest California's crops, but that Public Law 414—an immigration law which may be applied to Mexico—will provide short-run assistance. "The long-range solution to the farm labor problem is mechanization," he said.

Salinger called for increased federal aid to education in California in the areas of classroom construction, training of teachers and scholarships for needy students. He discounted the possibility that federal aid to education would bring federal control of public education.

He also called on Murphy to "repudiate" Sen. Goldwater's position vis a vis the allocation of Colorado River water. "The water should be preserved for

Farr Rally
In Monterey

Monterey County's State Sen. Fred S. Farr (D.-Carmel), will be honored at a dinner rally Friday night, Oct. 23, at 7 o'clock at Carpenter's Hall in Monterey.

State Controller Alan Cranston is scheduled to be the featured speaker at the rally.

Main course for the dinner will be enchiladas. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children. They are available at all Democratic headquarters. Reservations may be made by telephoning 375-1748 in Monterey or 422-2621 in Salinas.

Republican state senatorial candidate Stephen G. Magyar will be a guest speaker at the monthly membership meeting of the Salinas Young Republicans tonight at 8 o'clock in the community room of the Salinas Valley Savings and Loan Building. Magyar will discuss his platform and answer questions dealing with his candidacy from all comers.

A second guest speaker will be a Cuban refugee who, according to a YR press release, has asked to remain nameless, because he fears reprisals against his family in Cuba if his name were to become known. He is to speak about life behind Cuba's iron curtain.

A bake sale will follow the meeting, to which the public is invited. Proceeds of the sale will go toward meeting expenses of the California Young Republicans general convention, scheduled for December in Salinas.

Magyar, who is setting a fast pace these days, is also scheduled to deliver a speech on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at Greenfield Memorial Hall.

Republican U.S. Senate candidate George Murphy has decided on a stance of aggressive neutrality with respect to controversial Proposition 14 on the Nov. 3 ballot. He told the Californian during his campaign appearance in Salinas Friday that "I don't agree 100 per cent with either position," and that "my stand will eventually be determined by the individual voters."

Casting his eyes heaven-ward, Murphy said, "Please, God, may we all make the right decision." Murphy also said he doesn't believe that passage of Proposition 14 will "legalize hate."

Among the guests at the dinner rally honoring Murphy was Santa Cruz County's State Sen. Donald Grunsky, the expert on education for the Republican party in the upper house. Grunsky, who is unopposed for reelection, observed that he might be spending quite a bit of time in Monterey County in 1966 if the legislature passes a reap-

Gloria Swanson Due at Fairgrounds GOP Rally

Actress Gloria Swanson will star along with Republican candidates at a Monterey rally Sunday, Nov. 1, sponsored by the Monterey County Teen-age Republicans.

The political event is scheduled from 2 to 5 p.m. at the picnic area of the Monterey County Fairgrounds. There will be no admission charge.

Miss Swanson will make a speech in behalf of Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, GOP presidential candidate.

Steve Magyar, Republican candidate for State Senate, will be an honored guest. He also will speak.

Both Magyar and Miss Swanson will spend the afternoon at the rally, mingling with those attending.

Chairmen of the event are Carolyn Ballard, Mike Gilbert and Dave Gunthry, all of Pacific Grove.

The TAR group, affiliated with the California Federation of Teen-age Republicans, Northern Section, will be selling hot dogs and pop during the afternoon.

GOP Candidates
Asked to Rally
At Fairgrounds

Republican candidates of this area have been invited to attend a Teen-age Republican Rally from 2 to 5 p.m. tomorrow at Monterey County Fairgrounds.

The teen-agers will sell cokes, hot dogs and coffee and the public is invited.

A spokesman for the club said film star Gloria Swanson will not attend, as previously announced, but actors Gig Young and Johnny Crawford had been invited, together with a refugee from Cuba.

Date Mixup Eliminates Talcott, Bolz at USO

Rep. Burt L. Talcott (R-Salinas) will be unable to attend a League of Women Voters "candidates night" on Monday at the USO in Monterey.

As a result, the league has cancelled an invitation to Talcott's opponent, Democrat Sanford H. Bolz of Salinas.

League President Mrs. Leon Stutzman today released this statement:

"The League of Women Voters of the Monterey Peninsula announces that one of the candidates for the 12th Congressional District is unable to appear at their candidates meeting on the 26th at the Monterey USO. In line with their non-partisan policy, the League is forced to cancel their invitation to the other candidate for Congress."

Mrs. Stutzman would not say which candidate would not appear. The Herald learned it was Talcott by calling the headquarters of the two candidates.

Talcott's headquarters said Talcott is booked to appear that night in Hollister and the commitment for the Hollister appearance was made prior to the setting of the Monterey event.

A spokesman said that Talcott already has appeared on the same stage with Bolz in a League "candidates night" in San Luis Obispo on Oct. 15.

Talcott will not appear either at a "candidates night" in Salinas on Tuesday, Oct. 27, the spokesman said.

Mrs. Stutzman said the Monday night event will go on as scheduled with other candidates for local office due to appear. They include:

State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) and his Republican challenger, Stephen G. Magyar of Pacific Grove; Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee (R-Corral de Tierra) and his Democratic foe, Irby E. Bourriague of Felton and the rivals for the office of supervisor in the new 1st Supervisorial District, Gerald E. McGrath and Beauford (Andy) Anderson.

Senate Choice
Editor, The Herald:

This year the residents of Monterey County have the opportunity to vote for Steve Magyar for our state senator. He is a man who will represent us, not the governor.

For several years we have had genial, smiling Fred Farr as senator, whose principal concept of government appears to be based on "tax, tax, tax—spend, spend, spend" and who has bowed to every wish of Pat Brown.

Farr voted for Brown's withholding tax, his increase in the cost of drivers licenses and cigarette tax and any other tax Brown proposed. It is understood that Brown plans to ask for a state tax increase of considerable amount in 1965 and again attempt to force through his withholding tax plan . . .

Magyar is against these ever-increasing taxes, against the ever-increasing centralization of power in Sacramento and against the atrocious cement tentacles of the ruthless, omnipotent highway commission.

Magyar doesn't fit into Brown's pocket. He thinks for himself and thinks clearly.

Absentee Ballot Requests Pour In

Absentee ballot applications for the Nov. 3 general election continue to pour into the Monterey County Elections Department. Latest count: 3,858. Deadline for applying for absentee ballots is Oct. 27 at 5 p. m. Deadline for returning the completed ballots to the elections department is Nov. 2 at 5 p. m. The absentee ballots will be counted after the polls close on Nov. 3.

All of the candidates for public office in Monterey County at the Nov. 3 general election will be on hand next Tuesday evening, Oct. 27, for a candidates' night sponsored by the Salinas League of Women Voters and the Salinas branch of the Association of American University Women.

The event will be held at the multi-purpose room at Washington junior high school, Iverson and Lang streets in Salinas. It begins at 8 o'clock. The public is welcome to attend. There is no admission charge.

Congressman Burt L. Talcott reported today that his campaign schedule has been re-arranged in order that he will be able to be present for the candidates' night.

The Monterey League of Women Voters announced today that Congressman Burt L. Talcott will be unable to take part in the League's candidates night on Monday, Oct. 26, at 8 o'clock at the USO in Monterey. Talcott is scheduled to attend a Farm Bureau meeting in Hollister at the same time, his headquarters said.

Because of Talcott's inability to appear at the candidates night, the Monterey League of Women Voters said in a prepared statement that "in line with its non-partisan policy, the League is forced to cancel the

Pharmacist George Sargent and insurance man L. E. (Eddie) Johnson have been named co-chairmen of the Salinas committee campaigning for the re-election of Republican Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee.

Pattee, State Sen. Fred Farr and Farr's Republican opponent, Stephen G. Magyar, will speak "back to back" in a political program scheduled this Friday, Oct. 23, at Monterey Peninsula College. Pattee is to speak at 1 p. m., Farr at 2 p. m. and Magyar at 3 p. m. in the MPC lecture hall.

Assembly candidate Irby E. Bourriague, Democrat of Felton, will speak at MPC on Friday, Oct. 30.

The widow of the late Assemblyman Glenn Coolidge, Mrs. Margaret Coolidge of Santa Cruz, today announced her support of Pattee's candidacy. Mrs. Coolidge said that "Mr. Pattee was not only a close friend of Glenn's, but he has been an outstanding legislator, and I back him 100 per cent."

Attending the campaign address delivered Tuesday in Oakland by Republican Vice Presidential candidate William E. Miller were these Monterey County Goldwater-

Miller supporters: Mrs. James Thompson, William Gray, Mrs. Pete Kelley, Mrs. David Williams and Dean Griner.

Sen. Goldwater himself will deliver an address tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Masonic Auditorium in San Francisco. Admission is free.

Goldwater-Miller headquarters and Mrs. Maxine Gray of 715 Palma Dr., Salinas, are hopping mad about this one: Some practical joker — the finger of suspicion points at a Democrat — dropped a card in Mrs. Gray's mailbox reading "Dear Friend: Some extremist has attached a Goldwater stick window. I thought you would like to know about it to avoid further embarrassment. (Signed) A fellow American."

The card was deposited in her mailbox against postal regulations. Salinas post office officials are investigating the incident, which, Goldwater-Miller's northern California headquarters said in a press release, is the "latest in a systematic campaign to embarrass Sen. Goldwater's supporters."

Do-it-yourself enthusiasts will be interested in the many practical how-to-do-it books at the Salinas Public Library.

Farr Senate Group Meets Here Friday

Sen. Fred Farr (D.-Carmel) will chair a meeting of a subcommittee of the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Education Friday in Salinas.

The subcommittee meets at 10 a. m. in room 11 of Merrill Hall at Hartnell College to begin hearings into the progress of California's instructional television program.

Testimony before the subcommittee will be given by Monterey County Supt. of Education Ed Coffin and by representatives of the University of California, the California state colleges, Orange County, Los Angeles County and Sacramento County.

State Senator Candidates Give Pre-Election Statements

Fred S. Farr

For over nine years, I have been privileged to serve Monterey County in the State Senate of California. I am seeking re-election on my record of accomplishments and the representation I can continue to provide as eighth among forty senators in seniority, as Chairman of the Senate Natural Resources Committee and a ranking member of the Education, Agriculture, Judiciary and Elections Committees as well as serving as a member of the joint Senate-Assembly Committee for the revision of our state constitution.

Some of my legislative successes are: establishment of the state scenic highways system; our humane slaughter law; obtaining an appropriation of $3,820,000 for recreational development at the San Antonio Dam; securing unemployment insurance for fishermen; obtaining funds for Monterey County's Boys Ranch; inclusion of Asilomar in the state parks system; protection of the underwater marine resources at Point Lobos and Pacific Gove; obtaining state funds to aid local community projects for aged persons; and many other matters essential to the ordered growth of our county without sacrifice of its heritage or scenic resources.

Schools and the welfare of our children have been a primary interest of mine. In 1960, at President Eisenhower's invitation, I served as a delegate to the White House Conference on Children and Youth. I have been a consultant to Secretary of the Legislative Chairman of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, and as such, the only Californian to serve on the executive committee of this important interstate legal body.

I am a member of the Seaside Rotay Club, the Monterey Elks Club, the American Bar Association as well as the State and Monterey County Bar Associations, the Commonwealth Club of San Fran-

Steve Magyar

My campaign for election is based on California's need for a strong two-party system. We are now so one-sided that I am concerned about our future. My Hungarian immigrant father raised me to believe these three precepts: (1) There is no such thing as something for nothing. (2) The harder you work, the luckier you get. (3) Don't complain about something unless you are willing to do something about it.

Here are two of my complaints:

1. Among the top ten industrial states, California rates Number One in combined state and local taxes—$419.38 for every man, woman and child in the state. Since 1959, the beginning of the Democrat administration, the total state tax collections have jumped 71% while population has risen only 24%. During the same period, personal income tax collection has skyrocketed 143% but personal income has risen just 11%. In five Democrat years our budget has jumped from two billion dollars to over three and one half billion dollars. Our bonded indebtedness—$2.7 billion is the highest in the nation. Our motto appears to be charge it—to our children and grandcisco, Trustee of the Foundation for Environment Design, and recently I was named an honorary life member of the Sierra Club. I am a resident of Carmel and a Democrat. Mrs. Farr and I have three children, one in college, one in the Peace Corps and one in high school.

The people are familiar with my record, I believe they will re-elect one who has established a working relationship with his legislative colleagues both Republican and Democrat, which enables him to continue representing effectively all the people of Monterey County.

Coffee in Seaside for Senator Farr

A Coffee was held for Senator Fred Farr at the home of Mrs. Sherman W. Smith, 1955 Grand View, Seaside.

Senator Farr discussed in detail the different properties. The purpose of the coffee was to answer questions pertaining to county election.

PROPOSITION 14 SUNDAY

A realtor's reasons for voting 'No' on Proposition Fourteen will be stated by Leonard Cornell a member of a Palo Alto real estate firm, at the 'Get Out the Vote - No on 14' rally at Colton Hall, Monterey, at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, October 25.

Mr. Cornell, well known in the bay area for his forceful speaking, will appear with State Senator Fred Farr, Assemblyman Byron Rumford and Assemblyman Alan Pattee. Max Tadlock, Professor of Speech at Monterey Peninsula College, will be a master of ceremonies. The rally is co-sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Ministerial Association, the Monterey Committee of Californians against Proposition 14, and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Richard Osborne, co-chairman with Howard Seay of the Monterey Committee of Californians Against Proposition Fourteen, stated, 'We selected Colton Hall, the birthplace of our State Constitution, for our rally because we believe that Proposition 14 is the greatest threat to that Constitution and its guaranteed liberties that our citizens have ever faced.'

Among local organizations and firms urging a 'No' vote on Proposition 14 are the Monterey Bar Association, the League of Women Voters, Monterey City Council, Seaside City Council, Tri-City Real Estate, Monterey Peninsula Ministerial Association, Central Labor Council, Monterey County Democratic Central Committee, Commission on Social Concerns of the Church of the Wayfarer, and the United Churchwomen.

Dinner Honors Sen. Fred Farr

Tomorrow

More than 175 persons are expected to attend a dinner in honor of State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) at 7 p.m. tomorrow at Carpenters Hall at Hawthorne and Irving in Monterey.

Featured speaker will be State Controller Alan Cranston. Cranston's wife and two sons will accompany him to Monterey.

Cranston was elected controller during the Democratic sweep of 1958 and was re-elected in 1962 with the highest vote total ever given a candidate for state office in California. In this year's primary, he was defeated for nomination for U.S. Senate by Pierre Salinger.

Farr has served in the State Senate since 1955 when he was the winner of a special election to find a successor to the late Fred Weybret (R-Salinas). Farr was re-elected in 1956 and 1960.

An enchilada dinner will be served. Plates will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children. Parents are urged to bring their children who will be entertained separately during the speeches.

Door prizes will be offered.

Magyar Charges Brown, Farr In Proposition 14 'Smokescreen'

GREENFIELD — Stephen G. Magyar charged here Wednesday night that the "partnership" of Edmund G. Brown and Fred Farr is using the Rumford Act and Proposition 14 for "smokescreen" purposes.

The Republican state senatorial candidate said the governor and incumbent senator are emphasizing the issue to "cover up their failing water program and increasing taxes" and other alleged shortcomings.

Magyar said that Brown and Farr are accusing people "of being exploiters of hate when they in reality are causing more hate to fester by pitting minority against minority, instead of giving leadership and education to the people of California."

Addressing a "Citizens for Magyar" rally at Greenfield Memorial Hall, the Pacific Grove candidate said that "Gov. Brown doesn't seem interested in the fact that Mexican nationals make up 40 per cent of the total labor force in our agriculture and agriculture in Monterey County produces about 30 per cent of the county's adjusted gross income."

He said that if agriculture is forced to shift away from crops using this large seasonal labor force it will have a detrimental effect on industries and businesses which supply agriculture.

Magyar said that "maybe we are wrong in saying there is no such thing as something for nothing because Alameda County sits-ins complained that farm work was degrading and they were entitled to their welfare checks and didn't have to take farm jobs to get them." He said that some of the families who refused to work are in their second generation as welfare recipients and that reliable sources indicate that some families are in their third generation on welfare.

"Welfare," he said, "is getting to be a way of life."

State Senate Group Hears About TV in County Schools

SALINAS — Monterey County Supt. of Schools Ed Coffin told a State Senate subcommittee yesterday that 26 local school districts are now receiving educational television.

In one week, the number of viewers in Monterey County schools increased from 2,000 to 6,000, Coffin said.

Coffin testified at a one-day hearing at Hartnell College of the Subcommittee on Education.

The subcommittee's chairman is Sen. Fred Farr of Carmel, who said he is holding the hearings here because "Monterey County is one of the leading counties in the state in educational television."

Farr explained that the purpose of the hearing is to determine the state's responsibility in the role of educational television and "how we can be of assistance to local districts in setting up television systems and obtaining equipment."

Also testifying were Lawrence Frymier, educational television coordinator for California; Arthur Lunsdale, professor of education at UCLA; Russ Cohen, director of governmental affairs for the state college system; and Fred Ching, president of Hartnell College.

Candidates Night at USO Monday

The Monterey Peninsula chapter of the League of Women Voters will hold its annual Candidates Night at 8 p.m. Monday at the Monterey USO at El Estero and Webster.

Rival candidates for the offices of state senate, 25th District; state assembly, 34th District and supervisor of the new 4th District will appear.

Candidates for Congress from the 12th District will not speak. Rep. Burt L. Talcott (R-Salinas) reported recently he would be unable to attend and the League withdrew its invitation to his opponent, Democrat Sanford H. Bolz of Salinas.

Scheduled to speak are: State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) and GOP challenger Stephen G. Magyar of Pacific Grove.

Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee (R-Corral de Tierra) and Democratic opponent Irby E. Bourriague of Felton.

Beauford T. (Andy) Anderson and Gerald E. McGrath, running for the new supervisorial district which includes Seaside, Sand City, Del Rey Oaks, Monterey (east of Sloat) and portions of Fort Ord.

Monterey Radio Station KIDD will broadcast the event live, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Senators Meeting In Salinas

The Senate Fact Finding Committee on education this morning began hearings in Salinas on legislation which would provide state financial aid for instructional television.

Meeting at Hartnell College was a sub-committee on instructional television, chaired by State Sen. Fred Farr, D-Carmel. Witnesses before the committee included representatives from the state colleges, University of California, Southern California school districts, the State Department of Education and KQED (Channel 9).

First speaker was Ed Coffin, Monterey County superintendent of schools, who told the group that "the Monterey County Office of Education is becoming the focal point for a regional network of ITV."

Coffin told the committee that the Monterey County ITV signal is now going into Santa Cruz County, and will shortly be ready to supply ITV to San Benito and San Luis Obispo counties.

Coffin said that as a result of the county office hiring a coordinator of ITV, "viewing pupil enrollment" has jumped in one month from 2,000 to 6,000 students.

Planning Needed
"Much advance planning and follow up is needed for ITV to make it effective," Coffin said. "There is a tremendous difference in the quality of learning and it is in direct proportion to the amount of preparation by the teacher. Our coordinator has been of great help."

Coffin said that when the system went on the air for the first time Oct. 5, districts contracting with the county office were primarily interested in foreign language programs.

"They are now interested in a wide range of programs, including math, science and others, because of the quality of KQED's programs," Coffin said.

Problem Areas
Coffin said some isolated rural areas in the county still do not receive a TV signal, and that small one-watt translators will have to be installed to correct ITV.

Magyar Raps Brown-Farr Partnership on Prop. 14

Stephen G. Magyar, Republican state senatorial candidate, speaking last night in Greenfield, lashed out at the Brown-Farr partnership which he said is attempting to use the Rumford Act and Proposition 14 as a smoke screen to cover up their increasing taxes, their failing water program, and the general corruption which surrounds their activities in Sacramento.

"They are accusing people of being exploiters of hate," Magyar said, "when in reality they are causing more hate to fester by pitting minority against minority, instead of giving leadership and education to the people of California."

Magyar told his audience at Greenfield Memorial Hall that "Governor Brown doesn't seem interested in the fact that Mexican nationals make up 40 per cent of the total labor force in our agriculture, and agriculture in Monterey County produces about 30 per cent of the county's adjusted gross income."

Politicians Hit Home Stretch

By EARL HOFELDT

A busy final week of campaigning today confronted local candidates for partisan office in the Nov. 3 general election.

Rallies, barbecues, candidates nights, cocktail parties and other events typical of the campaign trail awaited incumbents and challengers.

A partial rundown on the schedules of the various candidates:

State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel). He will attend a ham barbecue in Castroville and a "No on 14" rally at Colton Hall in Monterey on Sunday. On Monday and Tuesday nights, he will attend candidate nights sponsored by the League of Women Voters in Monterey and Salinas.

South County

On Wednesday, he will address the Carmel Rotary Club and on Thursday he will swing into South County for a party sponsored by Paul Aurignac in San Ardo and a no-host dinner at Kiefer's Restaurant in King City.

On Friday, he will speak at Monterey Peninsula College, and then on Sunday, Nov. 1, will attend a party at Ansel Adams' home in Carmel Highlands.

Rep. Burt L. Talcott (R-Salinas). Barbecues in Castroville and at the Sheriff's Posse Grounds in Salinas will occupy the congressman on Sunday. The Salinas barbecue will be for GOP state senatorial candidate Stephen G. Magyar.

On Monday, Talcott will campaign in San Benito County. He will stump in Santa Cruz County on Tuesday and that night will attend a candidates night in Salinas. (Previously it had been announced he would not be able to attend this event).

Wednesday will see Talcott at a fund-raising dinner in Santa Cruz while on Thursday he will address the Watsonville Grange and a Democrats for Talcott meeting in northern Santa Cruz County. The rest of Talcott's schedule for the week remains open.

Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee (R-Corral de Tierra). He is mixing his campaign for re-election with a campaign on behalf of Proposition 16, the state lottery initiative.

Pattee will attend the

Magyar barbecue in Salinas on Sunday and possibly the "No on 14" rally in Monterey. He will speak at candidates nights in Monterey and Salinas on Monday and Tuesday.

Santa Monica

On Wednesday, he will go to Santa Monica on behalf of "Yes on 16," then will visit San Francisco the next day in the same connection. The rest of his schedule for the week is open.

Senatorial candidate Stephen Magyar. He will attend a coffee party at 10 a.m. Sunday at the Jade Apartments in Salinas, then will attend the "Magyar barbecue" in Salinas as well as the ham barbecue in Castroville.

Monday and Tuesday will be filled with coffee parties at various locations plus the candidates nights in Monterey and Salinas. Magyar will address the Kiwanis Club of Carmel on Thursday. On Saturday, Oct. 31, his datebook calls for an appearance at an NAACP cocktail party.

Assembly candidate Irby E. Bourriague. He plans intensive door-to-door campaigning throughout the week. In addition, on Sunday, will attend "No on 14" rallies in Monterey and Santa Cruz.

Coffee Parties

On Monday night he will be at a candidates night in Monterey and on Tuesday night will attend a Jesse Unruh dinner in Santa Cruz. Coffee parties will fill his schedule from Wednesday through Saturday, Oct. 31. On Sunday, Nov. 1, he will attend a Democratic picnic in Carmel Valley.

Congressional candidate Sanford H. Bolz. He will attend the ham barbecue at Our Lady of Refuge Church Sunday in Castroville. On Monday afternoon and evening, he will campaign in Santa Cruz.

Bolz will campaign in Seaside on Tuesday and that night will attend a candidates night in Salinas. He also will attend an NAACP meeting in Monterey that same night. At 11 a.m. Wednesday, he will speak at Cabrillo College at Aptos. Later that day, he will attend a Santa Cruz reception and that night will be at a labor rally at Carpenters Hall in Salinas.

He will campaign in San Luis Obispo County on Thursday, returning to a labor rally that night at Carpenters Hall in Monterey.

Cranston Booms Farr In New Monterey Talk

By EARL HOFELDT

State Controller Alan Cranston last night in Monterey said that reapportionment of the California State Senate is inevitable.

As reapportionment is worked out, he said that Monterey County's interests can best be protected through continued representation in the State Senate by Fred Farr of Carmel.

Cranston boomed Farr's reelection bid during a rally attended by a spillover crowd of about 200 persons in Carpenters Hall in New Monterey. An enchilada dinner was served.

Brief Talk

Farr, seeking election to Sacramento for the fourth time since he first won in a special election in 1955, also spoke briefly.

He spoke out against Proposition 14, the Rumford Act repealer and urged a large turnout for a "No on 14" rally on Sunday afternoon at Colton Hall.

Farr said the initiative "is an insult to all the elective officials in the legislature because it would deny them the right to pass laws affecting housing in California."

Cranston called on Farr's backers to "work for the largest majority possible" in returning Farr to the Senate.

'Strength'

"Fred Farr has demonstrated over the years that he can give strength to the sensible, forward-looking programs of the Democratic Party and at the same time take care of the special needs of his district."

Cranston said that with Senate reapportionment to be the No. 1 item on the agenda of the 1965 legislature, it would be "disastrous" to send a newcomer to Sacramento. Cranston, of course, had reference to Farr's Republican opponent, Stephen G. Magyar of Pacific Grove who is trying his wings for the first time in politics.

The controller, now serving his sixth year in the Capitol, also called on Monterey County voters to elect Democrats Irby Bourriague of Felton to the State Assembly and Sanford H. Bolz of Salinas to Congress.

Cranston is staying on the Peninsula over the weekend and will be among speakers at Sunday's "No on 14" rally.

P.G. Candidate to Attend Salinas GOP Barbecue by Helicopter

Republican state senatorial candidate Stephen G. Magyar of Pacific Grove will use a helicopter during his campaigning tomorrow. He will use the private copter to fly with his wife to a Republican barbecue in his honor at noon at the Sheriff's Posse Grounds in Salinas.

Following a speech, he will be flown to Castroville for an annual ham barbecue at our Lady of Refuge Church.

The Salinas barbecue will be a high point in Magyar's Democratic administration drive to upseat Democrat ward law enforcement. He said that the Democratic leadership killed each. On Thursday night, Magyar attended a Filipino Community reception in Salinas in honor of Sergio Osmena Jr., mayor of Cebu City in the Philippines.

He said Republicans entered six anti-obscenity bills in the 1963 legislature.

Magyar yesterday in a speech at Monterey Peninsula College attacked the Democratic administration for alleged complacency toward law enforcement. He said that about $500 million is spent annually for obscene publications and that Magyar attended a Filipino Community reception in Salinas in honor of Sergio Osmena Jr., mayor of Cebu City in the Philippines.

Straw Poll Favors Demos, Talcott, Pattee, No on 14

President Johnson, Sen. Pierre Salinger, Congressman Burt L. Talcott, State Sen. Fred Farr, Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee and "no on Proposition 14" were winners in Hartnell College's traditional straw vote Friday.

Four hundred eighty-eight students from 15 of the college's social classes cast their ballots in the straw vote, the sixth of its kind taken at Hartnell since the spring of 1960.

Top vote-getter among the candidates was Pattee, who outpolled his Democratic opponent Irby E. Bourriague of Felton by 387 to 88.

The students did some fancy ticket-splitting, giving majorities to three Democratic and two Republican candidates. Here are the results of the straw vote:

President: Lyndon B. Johnson (D), 347; Barry M. Goldwater (R), 134.

U.S. Senate: Pierre Salinger (D), 302; George Murphy (R), 181.

Congressman: Burt L. Talcott (R), 350; Sanford Bolz (D), 130.

State Senate: Fred Farr (D), 350; Stephen G. Magyar (R), 134.

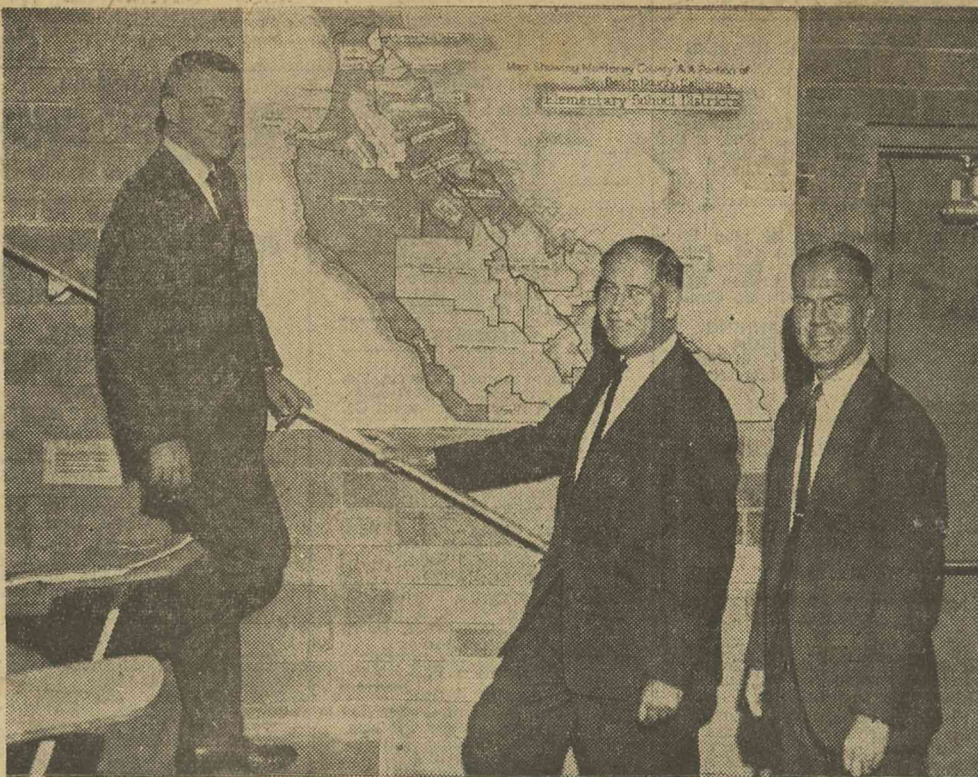

Assemblyman: Alan G. Pattee (R), 387; Irby E. Bourriague (D), 88.

Proposition 14, the initiative measure to repeal the Rumford act and other fair housing legislation now on the books in California and prohibit the legislature from acting in the fair housing field, was defeated, 245 "no" to 229 "yes."

Proposition No. 1 (state beaches and parks) carried, 392 "yes" to 88 "no." Proposition 2 (state colleges and junior colleges bond issue) had 455 "yes" and 25 "no." Proposition No. 3 (state school construction bonds) had 410 "yes" and 76 "no." Proposition No. 15 (prohibit pay television) passed by 324 "yes" to 152 "no." The statewide, privately operated lottery, Proposition No. 16, was narrowly defeated, 247 "no" to 231 "yes." And Proposition No. 16 (railroad train crews initiative) passed by 253 "yes" to 196 "no."

Proposition 14, the initiative measure which, if it passes, will repeal the Rumford Act and other fair housing legislation and prohibit the legislature from making changes in the fair housing field, "an insult to the elected representatives of the state of California," he senator said that Proposition 14 is "a measure that should not be in our State Constitution."

Farr, like Cranston counseled Democratic vigilance and a heavy voter turnout on Nov. 3. He warned that Republican "eagle eyes" may be posted at county polling places to challenge Democratic voters "and attempt to frighten them away" from voting. He suggested that Democrats might do well to have some poll watchers of their own.

The most important addition to the ranks of Proposition 14 foes came yesterday when Republican Sen. Thomas Kuchel attacked the measure in his first statement on the raging controversy.

At the same time, in another statement, Democratic Sen. Hugh Burns of Fresno, president pro tem of the State Senate, also opposed Proposition 14. It was over Burns' strong opposition that the Democratic state legislators, and Democratic U.S. Sen. Pierre Salinger, George Murphy, Salinger's Republican foe in the Nov. 3 balloting, has said he will not take a stand on Proposition 14.

The main volunteer Republican organization supports the initiative, while the volunteer California Democratic Council opposes it. The Democratic State Central Committee also is against it, while the Republican State Central committee did not take a

Assemblyman Rumford Leads Anti-14 Rally

MONTEREY — Four hundred Monterey County citizens gathered in front of Colton Hall in damp, dreary weather under a leaden sky here Sunday afternoon to hear Assemblyman Byron Rumford and rally against Proposition 14.

Rumford, a Negro Democrat from Berkeley, author of the Rumford Housing Act — which is "fair" or "forced," depending on one's point of view — said that Proposition 14 is "vicious" and, as "a scheme by the California Real Estate Association . . . has no place in California history."

Others Speak

Also addressing the rally were State Controller Alan Cranston, State Sen. Fred Farr, Democratic Congressional candidate Sanford Bolz, Democratic Assembly candidate Irby E. Bourriague, Palo Alto realtor Leonard Kornell and Richard Osborne, vice chairman of the board of directors of Del Monte Properties.

Proposition 14 is an initiative constitutional measure aimed at wiping all fair housing legislation off the books in California and prohibiting the legislature from acting in the fair housing it in committee for several weeks. He said that the CREA participated in drafting the legislation and that the charge he had "rammed" the act through the legislature was untrue.

The Assemblyman said that "the CREA is behind Proposition 14 because it wants to segregate and discriminate — that's all. They are self-interested people whose one purpose is to discriminate against American citizens." Rumford quoted from CREA literature in 1927 and 1947 to shore up his contention that the CREA is and has been racist-oriented.

In 1947, he noted, the CREA came out in favor of the "one-eighth (blood) test" to determine who is and who isn't Caucasian for the purpose of selling real estate. Earlier, Rumford said, the CREA had urged that none of the Japanese who were relocated during World War II be permitted to return to California.

Other Speakers

Cranston said that "if the issue is clearly understood," Proposition 14 will lose, for "California is not a state of bigots.

Bigotry should not make a breakthrough in California."

Farr said that passage of Proposition 14 would "forever tie the hands of the legislature" in the fair housing field and would "take away control of local government . . . This is a bad thing to place in our constitution."

Bolz said that "Proposition 14 is going to lose, because the forces that make for decency and righteousness in our society are on the march . . . No decent-minded citizen can accept the proposition that would create for the first time anywhere in the United States, north or south, a constitutional right to be a bigot."

Bourriague called Proposition 14 "the most evil measure a Democratic people has been forced to resolve."

Kornell said that the white citizens of the California electorate are shackled by "an iron ring of fear" and said it is time "we threw it off and achieved our own emancipation."

The rally was sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Ministerial Association, the Peninsula branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Peninsula committee against Proposition 14.

Candidates' Forum Night Set Tuesday

All of the major candidates for election to public office in Monterey County on Nov. 3 will gather Tuesday night in Salinas at the Washington Junior High multi-purpose room for a pre-election "candidates' forum."

The American Association of University Women, Salinas branch, and the League of Women Voters of Salinas are co-sponsoring the event, which figures to be one of the high points of the current campaign. Candidates will begin speaking at 8 o'clock sharp. The public is invited to attend the forum. There is no admission charge.

Appearing at the forum will be:

Participants Named

Republican Congressman Burt L. Talcott of Salinas and his Democratic opponent Sanford H. Bolz, also of Salinas; incumbent Democratic State Sen. Fred Farr of Carmel and Republican state senatorial candidate Stephen G. Magyar of Pacific Grove; Republican Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee of Salinas and Democratic Assembly candidate Irby E. Bourriague of Felton; and first district candidates for the Monterey County Board of Supervisors Chester Deaver, the incumbent, and challenger Warren Church.

Candidates will speak for five minutes each—in order determined by lot. Each will have two minutes for rebuttal. After all candidates have had an opportunity to speak, they will answer written questions, to be screened for pertinence and duplication by a joint LWV-AAUW committee.

Pattee Leads Field in Hartnell Straw Vote

SALINAS — Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee (R-Corral de Tierra) proved the most popular vote-getter in a Hartnell College straw vote involving key partisan races and ballot propositions on the Nov. 3 general election ballot.

More than 580 students took part in the voting, results of which were announced Saturday. The results:

For president, Johnson-Humphrey 347; Goldwater-Miller 134.

For U.S. Senate, Salinger 302; Murphy 181.

For congress, Talcott 350; Bolz 130.

For assembly, Pattee 387; Bourriague 88.

For State Senate, Farr 350; Magyar 134.

Proposition 14, the Rumford Housing repealer initiative, yes 229, no 254.

Proposition 15, to prohibit pay television, yes 324, no 152.

Proposition 16, the state lottery, yes 231, no 247.

Proposition 17, repealing "full crew" railroad legislation, yes 253, no 196.

The three bond issues on the ballot, Propositions 1, 2 and 3, carried overwhelmingly.

Salinas Rally for Magyar

GOP Barbecue

By EARL HOFELDT

SALINAS — A cold wind to greater effort in the final yesterday bit into about 200 fans of Stephen G. Magyar as they bit into barbecued beef ribs during a rally in Magyar's honor at the Sheriff's Posse Grounds.

Speeches were brief. Magyar, speaking from a stand bedecked with racing flags, pennants and bunting, thanked everyone for turning out and urged them

He praised Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee (R-Corral de Tierra) for supporting him in the campaign. Magyar said, as he has before, that he is not trying to break up the "team" of Pattee and Democratic State Sen. Fred Farr but rather the "team" of Farr and Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

By Helicopter

Magyar and his wife arrived at the barbecue at the foot of the Gabilans in a tiny private helicopter. The arrival of the ship was quite an excitement to a number of small children. One little fellow ran through the crowd yelling "Here comes Steve Magyar."

Pattee and Rep. Burt I. Talcott also spoke.

Pattee said that in addition to his own campaign he is occupied in working

Magyar Attends Barbecue Sunday Via Helicopter

By ERIC BRAZIL
Republican state senatorial candidate Stephen G. Magyar descended from heaven in a helicopter Sunday afternoon and was feted at a campaign barbecue at the Sheriff's Posse grounds.

"My campaign manager George Tomlinson thought it would be a spectacular idea for me to parachute down to you folks," Magyar told the more than 200 persons who had come to see and hear him. "But I was chicken. I don't want to be voted in in the past tense."

Congressman Burt L. Talcott and Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee slogged across a dusty field to greet Magyar as he stepped out of the helicopter.

Pointing at the helicopter, Magyar said "it's the first time I've tried my wings in politics."

Riding Coattails

In a brief speech, Magyar said that he has been "delighted to find that we have so much Democratic support and help from those who know that you can't get something for nothing." He admitted that he has a firm hold on the coattails of Talcott and Pattee, because "when you've got a couple of winners, you stick with them."

Magyar scoffed at the long-standing political non-aggression pact between Pattee and Sen.

Fred Farr, his incumbent Democratic opponent. "If it hadn't been with Alan's blessings, I wouldn't be in this race," Magyar said.

But Pattee stopped short of endorsing Magyar by name. In fact he didn't even mention Magyar during his speech, although he did stress Republican party unity. Pattee said that the state legislature's Republican caucus had agreed to support any GOP candidate who made it through the primary, though, and that the agreement was "signed in blood."

After his speech Pattee told the Californian that a re-iteration of the Republican caucus's pledge was "as far as I'm going to go" in the direction of working actively against Farr.

"Mean and Dirty"

Talcott said that he has found the campaign "mean and dirty" so far, but that he refuses to campaign "in a degrading manner," for "I don't want to downgrade politics—I want to upgrade it."

The Congressman related a story told to him by a Hungarian refugee in Atascadero recently. Talcott said that the refugee pointed out to him that "we can lose our liberties here piece by piece, and when we lose them here in America, we have no place to go—we can't crawl to freedom, even through barbed wire and bullets."

"A Republican Year"

Magyar, who predicted that "it's going to be a Republican year in Monterey County," has come through several months of intensive hand shaking in singularly good shape—not a single blister, cut or scratch on his right hand. He told the Californian that he learned the trick of hand shaking from James Farley, former Postmaster General and a Democratic political wheel during the New Deal days.

The trick, Magyar said, is to "be the aggressor" and grasp the voter's hand high up between the thumb and forefinger, so that he can't crunch down on the candidate's fingers. With that kind of leverage, Magyar said, a healthy candidate ought to be able to shake hands day in, day out.

Pattee Explains Absence At Rally in Monterey

Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee (R-Corral de Tierra) yesterday expressed regret that he was unable to attend Sunday's "No on 14" rally in Monterey.

He said that he had just flown in from Los Angeles that morning and then was tied up in a rally for state senatorial candidate Stephen G. Magyar in Salinas. Pattee had been announced as a participant in the Monterey program which featured a talk by Assemblyman William Byron Rumford (D-Berkeley).

Pattee, however, repeated his support of the Rumford Housing Act and his opposition to Proposition 14 which would repeal the measure.

The assemblyman called "civil rights the most important issue today." He also said that he opposes the initiative "because I think this takes away the prerogative of the legislature and is therefore unconstitutional."

In a talk to a "Candidates Night" in Monterey last night, Pattee said that Rumford came to him and asked him for support in drawing a fair housing act. In turn, Pattee said he advised Rumford of the content of a fair housing act used in the State of New York and said that subsequently the California law was patterned after this.

NAACP Hears Candidates

This Evening

10-27-64
Candidates for Congress, State Assembly and 4th District county supervisor are scheduled to address the Peninsula Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People tonight.

President Cecil Bindel said invitations have been accepted by Sanford Bolz, Democratic candidate for Congress; Irby Bourriaque, Democratic candidate for Assembly; Alan Pattee, Republican incumbent assemblyman; Beauford Anderson, candidate for supervisor; and Gerald McGrath, Anderson's opponent.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the community room of the Monterey Library, and is open to the public.

Bindel said incumbent Republican Congressman Burt Talcott has sent word he will be unable to attend. State senate candidates Fred Farr and Stephen Magyar addressed the NAACP last month.

Bolz, Pattee and Bourriaque are scheduled to participate in a Salinas League of Women Voters' candidates' night tonight but will come to Monterey afterward, Bindel explained.

Candidates Swap Views At USO

By EARL HOFELDT

Sacramento politics was jumbled with Salinas politics in a none-too-exciting "Candidates night" last night at the Monterey USO.

Monterey County's representatives in the state capital, State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel) and Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee (R-Corral de Tierra) said they should be re-elected on Nov. 3 on the basis of experience.

Their challengers, GOP senatorial candidate Stephen G. Magyar of Pacific Grove and Democratic Assembly aspirant Irby E. Bourriague of Felton said the area needs better representation and they are the men to provide it.

In the third match, Seaside Mayor Beauford Anderson and Monterey school district trustee Gerald E. McGrath sought to convince a skimpy crowd of about 80 persons why each is best qualified to represent the new 4th Supervisorial District in the county seat.

The attendance at the event sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the League of Women Voters was the poorest in many years—perhaps a reflection of apathy toward this year's local races.

Congressional candidates Rep. Burt L. Talcott (R-Salinas) and Sanford H. Bolz, Salinas Democrat, did not appear. Talcott last week advised the league that he had a prior commitment in Hollister. The league then, following its non-partisan policy, withdrew its invitation to Bolz.

No Fireworks

The program was quite devoid of fireworks and it is doubtful that many votes were swung as a result of the several performances.

Magyar, combining a rather sharp attack on Farr with a good deal of clowning, perhaps drew the most attention.

Without spelling out his charges in detail, Magyar accused Farr of "pressuring" people who announced support of Magyar.

Magyar said that if he should win and run for re-election, "I will never chastise you for supporting my opponent. But I will want you to take Magyar on and not my friends and my family. . . . Don't call up my friends and tell them to take my signs off the buses or tell them, 'Don't vote for Magyar' because he supports the Rumford initiative."

Whimsy

Turning to whimsy, Magyar, an acoustical tile contractor, said he hoped that the tile he installed in Farr's kitchen wouldn't fall off during the last week of the campaign.

Farr, in his talk, stressed his accomplishments in the 9½ years he has served in the Senate. Briefly turning to in-fighting, he criticized a recent circular mailing from the Magyar camp which he complained misrepresents his voting record.

Farr attacked Magyar for expressing support of the Liberty Amendment. Later, in a question-and-answer session, Magyar said that if he did endorse the Liberty Amendment, he did so in a naive moment before he got into politics. The amendment would abolish the federal income tax.

Lottery

Bourriague concentrated his fire on Pattee's support of Proposition 16, the state lottery initiative. "If elected to the Assembly, I will make an effort to represent all the people and promise you that I will never become the willing tool of any group, gambling or otherwise, which would in my opinion create law enforcement problems, contribute to juvenile delinquency, weaken the moral fibre of our legislative process or create a power structure which would by its very nature become a fountainhead of corruption."

Pattee said there is much more to state government than the lottery. He said that in his 10 years in Sacramento he always has voted in what he considers the best interests of the people of his district on a great mass of issues.

Farr Aide Heads Youth for Johnson

SAN FRANCISCO — The Committee to Elect President Johnson today announced that Paul Halvonic, administrative assistant to State Sen. Fred Farr (D-Carmel), has been named chairman of the Young Citizens for Johnson in Monterey County.

Halvonic, 25, is a recent graduate of the University of California Law School and is a member of the Monterey Peninsula Young Democrats.

said that Seaside has experienced its greatest growth in the years he has been on the council. He said that his experience and contacts in city government have given him the ability to make decisions, to work in the best interest of "every man, woman and child."

Questions

In the question-and-answer period, McGrath said he was opposed to the $5 million county bond issue on next week's ballot. He said he did not like the Monterey site for the Peninsula courthouse annex and said he felt the various construction programs in the issue should be broken up.

Anderson supported the bond issue, saying the county badly needs the facilities which it would provide. He recalled that he once opposed the Monterey site for the annex but added, "The board has made its decision."

Anderson, who also called for a county hospital annex on the Peninsula, was asked how he could make such a recommendation when it would cost $1 million a year. He said the figure was wrong, that yearly operating costs would be more like $100,000.

McGrath admitted that after retiring from the Army he drew unemployment compensation for a time while drawing pension pay. "I drew it and I am not ashamed of it."

On the lottery, he said that the money which annually is spent illegally on sweepstakes and bookies should "be brought up from underground" and put to worthwhile use in support of education.

Supervisorial

Supervisorial candidate McGrath emphasized his service on the school board as a reason why he should be elected. His opponent, Anderson, said that he has served five years on the Seaside City Council, the last four as mayor and cited this a prime reason why he would be the better supervisor.

McGrath said that he is a veteran, a property owner and a family man and if elected, would make the job of supervisor a full-time job.

Anderson, married, a property owner and Congressional Medal of Honor winner, also pledged to make the job fulltime. He

Barry Goldwater says: "If the cost of living continues to rise and the dollar continues to shrink, the savings of our citizens will be worthless. I'd cut down government spending. And I'd move to keep down the size of government, too. Further, I'd see to it that we had a climate once again in America where this free competitive enterprise system of ours would flourish, so that real jobs with real wages would be the answer not only to poverty but to the problems of inflation and higher living costs."

Senators Meeting In Salinas

The Senate Fact Finding Committee on education this morning began hearings in Salinas on legislation which would provide state financial aid for instructional television.

Meeting at Hartnell College was a sub-committee on instructional television, chaired by State Sen. Fred Farr, D-Carmel. Witnesses before the committee included representatives from the state colleges, University of California, Southern California school districts, the State Department of Education and KQED (Channel 9).

First speaker was Ed Coffin, Monterey County superintendent of schools, who told the group that "the Monterey County Office of Education is becoming the focal point for a regional network of ITV."

Coffin told the committee that the Monterey County ITV signal is now going into Santa Cruz County, and will shortly be ready to supply ITV to San Benito and San Luis Obispo counties.

Coffin said that as a result of the county office hiring a coordinator of ITV, "viewing pupil enrollment" has jumped in one month from 2,000 to 6,000 students.

Planning Needed

"Much advance planning and follow up is needed for ITV to make it effective," Coffin said. "There is a tremendous difference in the quality of learning and it is in direct proportion to the amount of preparation by the teacher. Our coordinator has been of great help."

Coffin said that when the system went on the air for the first time Oct. 5, districts contracting with the county office were primarily interested in foreign language programs.

"They are now interested in a wide range of programs, including math, science and others, because of the quality of areas in the county still do not receive a TV signal, and that small one-watt translators will have to be installed to correct this. This is being done for Aromas, and for the Hall School in North Monterey County.

Areas still not receiving a signal include the Palo Colorado, Captain Cooper, and Pacific school districts south of Carmel.

The committee also heard this morning from Lawrence T. Frymire, television coordinator for the Television Advisory Committee, Department of General Services in Sacramento.

Frymire's job is to develop a state-wide plan for ITV. He said he hopes to have the plan done by 1965.

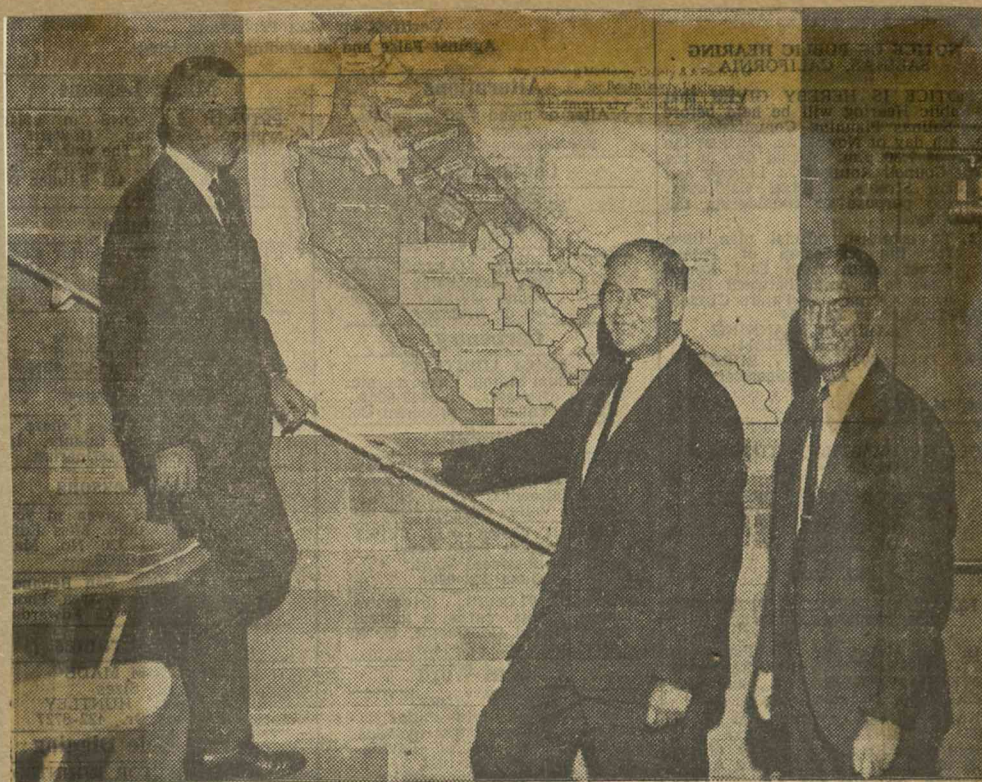

Obstacles Listed

Frymire listed major obstacles, as the great size of the state; lack of ITV broadcast facilities in key population centers, including Monterey County; policies of the Board of Regents which restrict colleges and universities from participating to any degree; lack of funds and lack of a state program.

Frymire said ITV appears to be an answer to the problem of mandatory foreign language teaching in elementary schools in 1965.

"Development of ITV on a statewide basis . . . may in the long run represent the most important development in the history of California education," Frymire said.

Members of the subcommittee attending the hearing this morning included Farr and Sen. Howard Way of Tulare County.

SUBCOMMITTEE MEETS—The subcommittee of State Senate Fact Finding Committee on Educational TV met in Salinas Friday to discuss all phases of instructional TV with the idea of what future legislation might be needed during the next session. Pictured, from left, were Ed Coffin, county superintendent of schools; Sen. Fred Farr of Carmel and Sen. Howard Way of Porterville. Others present included Dr. Fred Ching, president of Hartnell College, educators from all parts of the state, and Dr. Lawrence Frymire, Gov. Conferences Continue On Ord Meningitis

No new cases of meningitis were reported at Fort Ord today where six soldiers are hospitalized with the disease.

Of the six now undergoing treatment, only two are on the seriously ill list. They are Pvt. Richard J. Weigle, 21, of Pomona and Pvt. Frank W. Cooper, 17, of Great Falls, Mont.

Weigle and Cooper were admitted to the Fort Ord Hospital over the weekend along with Pvt. David R. Johnson, 19, of San Francisco, who has a mild case of the disease.

Cases Compared

The latest victims brought the total number of all types of meningitis cases at Fort Ord in the last 10 months to 99. That includes 15 fatalities.

This compares to 179 cases of meningococcic infections — 14 resulting in death—from Jan. 1 through Oct. 25 at the six other U.S. Army training centers.

Due to what one spokes-mounting public pressure because the State Health Department had "traced" several civilian meningitis cases to Fort Ord, the Army halted the assignment of new recruits to the base and ordered suspension of basic training for the month of December.

The Pentagon also directed that reservists assigned to duty at Fort Ord should go to other bases.

National Guardsmen and U. S. Marines have been prohibited from using the base until the meningitis problem is brought under control.

Other Centers

Meningitis has not been peculiar to Fort Ord, however. These are the meningococcic cases and deaths from Jan. 1 through Oct. 25 at the six other Army training centers:

Fort Dix, N. J., 24 cases, 2 deaths; Fort Knox, Ky., 28 cases, 3 deaths; Fort Gordon, Ga., 21 cases, 4 deaths; Fort Jackson, S.C., 23 cases, 1 death; Fort

Some of the cost figures the committee heard on the Coyote fire alone were: $2.5 million to put it out; $2,788,400 in damage to 188 structures; close to another million dollars in loss of household furnishings; and destruction of better than 6,000 acres of valuable watershed, trees, wild life, with accompanying ugliness and vulnerability to soil erosion, landslides, and flooding.
